REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 14, 1915.

To the Citizens of Union School District:

The report of the Superintendent of schools so fully details the progress made in school work during the past year that there is little occasion for any further comment by the Board of Education.

The coördinating of the entire school system by so extending the jurisdiction of the Superintendent as to include the high school has been effected without friction of any kind. The resulting benefits are already apparent, and will certainly be still more notable in the future.

The abandonment of the Merrimack and Tahanto Schools and the housing of their pupils in the new Walker School, places us in the position of having now no group of pupils occupying an inadequate and unfit building. All of the buildings now in use are reasonably adapted to the purposes for which they are employed.

The Walker School, built by the Board, under the immediate supervision of its Committee on lands and buildings, marks a new departure in school construction in this city. Beautiful without being ornate, solid in construction, and adequate in size, it ought, for many years to come, to meet the requirements of that part of the city which it serves.

An article in the warrant will bring before the voters of the district the proposal to appropriate money for procuring and equipping suitable grounds for athletic sports and physical culture, to be carried on under competent supervision and instruction. No definite plan has yet been adopted for the use of whatever funds may be provided.

But in general it would be deemed wise to start on a small scale, undertaking no more than we are sure we can carry out, and gradually to expand our activities in this direction as experience shows that expansion is desirable. The chief difficulty, and the chief expense, will be involved in the securing of suitable land. After that, the cost will be small. And the benefits, especially to that large class of our pupils who by reason of inferior physical development can have no part in athletic activities as now organized, will be very great.

We most earnestly recommend the appropriation of a reasonable sum for this purpose.

All that can be undertaken at present is the provision of out-door facilities for exercise and recreation. The need of such facilities indoors, for use during the winter months, is even greater. But the expense of providing suitable gymnasiums capable of accommodating all our children would be so great as to be beyond the means of the district. For such facilities we must look to private enterprise and philanthropy. And we take this opportunity to recommend this object to the attention of public-spirited citizens desirous of devoting a part of their wealth to the public service.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN R. SHEPARD,
DENNIS E. SULLIVAN,
FANNY E. MINOT,
OMAR S. SWENSON,
EDWARD C. NILES,
WILLIAM H. SAWYER,
CARRIE E. EVANS,
HARRY H. DUDLEY,
GEORGE H. MOSES.

THE NEW WALKER SCHOOL.

The construction of the new Walker School building, to take the place of the former building on the site of the old North Church, was begun in the late fall of 1913, and the building was occupied February 1, 1915. It was designed by Huse Templeton Blanchard of New York City, a former Concord boy, and a graduate of our High School in the class of 1897.

The building is of a modified colonial type, of brick construction, with granite trimmings. The construction throughout is nearly fireproof, the walls being of brick, the frame steel, the floors concrete, partitions brick and hollow tile, and the stairways of steel and concrete. The only wood used in the building is that in the finished floors, which are of birch, the interior finish, such as doors, door frames, window frames, etc., and the roof. The floors of the corridors and stairways are finished in Puritan cement. Standpipes run through the building, and a sufficient supply of hose and nozzles is provided for each story. There are four exits to the building, two on the north and two on the south sides, and the doors of same are fitted with panic bolts, making congestion in the immediate passage to the doorways practically impossible.

The basement contains the following rooms: Boiler room, coal bin, janitor's room, manual training room, store room, wood room, cooking room, boys' and girls' lavatories (each provided with shower baths), and boys' and girls' wardrobes.

The first floor contains six recitation rooms, a large kindergarten room with ample lavatory and supply rooms, and two teachers' rooms.

The second floor contains six recitation rooms, two teachers' rooms, and a large assembly hall capable of accommodating five hundred.

The building is heated by steam, having both direct and indirect application, and the ventilation conforms to the most up-to-date ideas.

The lighting is modern and sufficient for all purposes, the natural lighting being from one side of the rooms only. In the recitation rooms, no pupil's desk is over 18 feet from the source of light.

There are two bubbling drinking fountains on each floor. All the rooms in basement are connected by telephone.

The three lowest grade rooms are equipped with Moulthrop movable chairs, the newest idea in school furniture, and all rooms have ample closets for books, etc. Eight of the recitation rooms are in use, although only six are actually occupied by pupils, while one is used for an extra recitation room, and one for a sewing room. The cooking room is equipped completely for its required work, and can accommodate twenty-four pupils. The manual training room has fifteen working benches, and the sewing room twenty-four individual sewing tables.

The work was done by the following firms:

General construction, Hutchinson Building Company of this city.

Heating and ventilating, Stone Underhill Heating and Ventilating Company, of Boston, Mass.

Wiring, Orr & Rolfe of this city.

Plumbing, Orr & Rolfe of this city.

Grading, Geo. L. Theobald of this city.

Granolithic, Hutchinson Building Company of this city.

Lighting, Johns-Manville Company.

There are three hundred thirty-four children attending school at the present time, under the provision of ten regular teachers.

The Merrimack and Tahanto buildings have been discontinued, as well as one room in the Franklin School, and the majority of the pupils have been transferred to the Walker School. It is to be noted that several recitation rooms are not yet in use, and these extra rooms should be sufficient to accommodate a considerable increase in the number of children in the vicinity of this building for several years. Furthermore, if it becomes necessary at any time to increase the size of this building, additions can be made to the north or south sides of the end pavilions without in any way affecting the lighting of the present building.

A large concrete plaza was constructed in front of the south side of the building, and the balance of the school grounds properly graded.

It is our opinion that when the rooms are fitted up completely, Concord can claim the Walker School building to be one of the best of its kind in the state, and that it was built at a minimum cost.

Respectfully submitted,

OMAR S. SWENSON,
DENNIS E. SULLIVAN,
HARRY H. DUDLEY,

Building Committee of the Board of Education.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Board of Education of Union School District:

The awful conflict of foreign nations casting its pall over the entire world overshadows, for a time, the prominence of educational endeavor. In the minds of many people it has raised serious doubt as to whether centuries of educational effort is now reaping the harvest it ought when so many of the brightest minds are being sacrificed in the struggle of passions. The peaceful conditions in our own country, the earnest philanthropy manifested in the relief of suffering, and the effort being made to bring about an early and lasting world peace reassures us that past endeavor in the education of our complex population has been of avail.

It is with this thought in mind that I venture to call your attention from the horrors of war to what is being done within our horizon line of education and then to the condition of the schools about which you have always manifested great concern.

The work which the United States Bureau of Education is doing is of great importance. The scope of this work embraces all kinds of educational effort in public as well as private schools and its publications on different lines are indispensable to the student of education. I take the liberty to mention a few of the subjects treated in these reports.

READJUSTMENT OF SCHOOL TIME.

Searching inquiry into the economy of school time, the wider use of school plants, and the waste in public expenditures, has given rise to a study of the amount of time, both yearly and daily, which is devoted to pupil instruction. Thus far there appears to be an idea prevailing throughout the country that both are too short. One of the pioneers in this movement is the city of Gary, Indiana, which provides for a six-hour day throughout the entire year, one quarter of the year being optional. I call this to your attention particularly as a most remarkable, most interesting, and, with local adjustments, a most desirable scheme of conducting public schools.

THE TRAINING OF TEACHERS.

The teachers of the country receive their training from the following sources: Teachers colleges, state normal schools, city training schools and universities. Professional training in the last is still in its beginning and not enough advanced to have its influence felt as it is bound to be later, but this professional movement forecasts the end of teaching by those who depend solely upon scholarly equipment for success because such evidence of preparation for professional training is an implied acknowledgment of deficiency in this particular.

THE REORGANIZATION OF SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

Reference to this was made in my last annual report. Since that time the idea of junior high school, of which our system was one of the early exponents, has taken root widely and beyond the question of a doubt is to become a distinct feature of the national secondary school system.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

The plan of school savings banks when first inaugurated was doomed to an early death by opponents but its value is shown in a continuous growth and other known elements of strength. The report of the Bureau reveals the following:

Number of depositors in the country,	216,806
Amount of money deposited,	$4,258,068.15
Amount of money withdrawn,	2,668,751.33
Amount of money still on deposit,	1,589,316.82

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION.

The working out of a plan for the successful application of vocational education is still in embryo. It had its inception in the idea that those pupils who leave school early should have some direction as to what may be best for them to do; in the idea that this class above all others has power in the upbuilding and maintaining of a democracy and that they must have an education suited to their needs. The plan is one which has come to stay but its necessity should be most clearly defined before a trial is made in our system.

IN OUR OWN STATE.

Teachers' Pensions.

The movement in favor of state pension legislation has at last assumed definite form in a bill now before the legislature. This bill is sanctioned by the State Department of Public Instruction, by the New Hampshire Educational Associations, and by all fair-minded people, as a just return for a life work in service of the state.

State-Wide Supervision.

This bill provides for compulsory supervision in all towns. No other bill in recent years emanating from the Department of Public Instruction has such a broad significance as this, and its passage would work great good to the state in general.

PROFESSIONAL TRAINING.

As evidence of the thought being given to the professional training of teachers permit me to call to your attention the following:

Dartmouth College has employed a professor of pedagogy.

The State College has established a department for the professional training of secondary school teachers.

The state has two flourishing normal schools and asks for a third.

The city training schools are doing efficient work.

The first subject to be treated in the ordinary school report is pupil attendance as revealing an increase or loss in population. In growing places, especially manufacturing towns, a deficiency from one source is usually quickly made up by gains in others, but, in a city like ours, with industries limited in character and in number, this is not the case.

The aggregate attendance in all schools for the year ending June 19, 1914, exceeded that of the preceding year by seventy-four pupils but the enrollment this year has fallen off decidedly owing to the fact that many families moved to Billerica, Mass., when the working force at the Boston & Maine Railroad shops was curtailed.

On looking over past tabulated attendance I find that maximum and minimum periods occur about once in every ten years. Increases have been noted this year in the Harriet P. Dame School and in the High School. In the first-named, the crowded condition of the lowest primary room called for an additional school which was started in the fall and placed in charge of one of the pupil teachers from the training school. Later a regular teacher was employed. The truancy report shows the usual number of pupils who for various reasons needed the services of the truant officer. No epidemics of great importance have occurred except whooping-cough in the winter term.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Junior High.

The working out of the junior high school plan proves most satisfactory in every way. In Appendix I, I have given the usual semi-annual report, which was submitted to you last fall. The transition from classes M and N to classes O and P is smooth and without apparent friction either in discipline or the prosecution of studies. We were fortunate in retaining the entire corps of teachers for another year in the Chandler School. The number of pupils enrolled here for the first semester was 184 and, for the second, 172. The capacity of the building is not adequate for the work but even under its difficulties the school remains model. The Parker School suffered a loss of four teachers at the end of the spring term. Miss Courser accepted a more lucrative position in Falmouth, Mass., Miss Blodgett gave up teaching for a time, Miss Dickson returned to home duties in Maine, and Miss Horne was transferred to the senior high school. The new teachers are earnest and efficient and display a commendable spirit in their work. The high school classes in the Walker, the Garrison and the Eastman Schools are in good condition. I am free to say that for earnestness, faithfulness, professional progress of the teaching force, and in wholesome school spirit, it will be very difficult to find schools superior to and not many the equal of the junior high schools. This statement is borne out not only by residents of this city but also by visiting educators of note.

Senior High School.

This school experienced the following changes:

Mr. Lyman accepted a position in Massachusetts.

Mr. Clarke resigned to go elsewhere.

Miss Hanson is engaged in diet kitchen work in Boston.
Miss Merrill resigned to go elsewhere.

Miss Sargent has been granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the year beginning January 1.

Mr. Thomas Twomey was chosen to substitute for Miss Sargent.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

During the first semester fourteen teachers' meetings were held, seven devoted to organization, programs, notices, records, etc., six to considering problems of daily occurrence in school work and one to discussing professional reading by the teachers. Thirty-five different books have been read or studied by the teaching force varying from two to six to a teacher. In addition, the teachers have free access to leading educational magazines.

I appreciate this gain in professional interest but the fact that only one meeting has been given over entirely to the professional side of teaching leads me to renew my statement in last year's report. Individual effort alone in professional uplift can never accomplish its end unless frequently supplemented by round-table talks at which free interchange of ideas and friendly discussions are indulged in by a number of teachers together. Another year we hope the professional idea may be conducted along these lines. During the first semester twenty-seven such meetings were held by combined teaching forces in the Chandler and the Parker Schools. All the elementary schools hold meetings once every two weeks.

ATTENDANCE.

The enrollment in this school for the first semester was 437 pupils—the second semester 463. The graduating class of last year numbered 85, 6 in January and 79 in June. Eleven of these entered college, and 7 take special work in college or university.

From this term on the attendance at the High School will not vary greatly inasmuch as the graduating classes will about compensate for the entering classes.

ENGLISH.

The course in English for the full five years high school has been put into concrete form by the superintendent with the advice and suggestions of the teachers. This embraces a course in Concord History taken up in essay writing. Some excellent results are already in evidence. Spelling contests in various ways have been held frequently.

LATIN.

The course in Latin has been arranged in definite detail and the entire subject is being treated more rationally than before. The work in sight reading has improved, reaching its maximum efficiency in the Chandler and the Parker Schools.

SCHOOL SESSIONS.

At the beginning of the fall term the school began the six-hour session plan. The additional time was taken up in lengthening the recess twenty-five minutes, the remaining time being given to recitation period. The original plan was to arrange for a fifty-minute period as follows: Forty minutes for the actual recitation period, and ten minutes for supervised study. In the comparatively few instances where this is carried out the value of the plan is plainly evident. The longer noon recess enables one-half of the students to eat dinner at home. A nourishing lunch is furnished in the drill room for those who are obliged to remain in the building, details of which may be found in another article. The average time spent by the pupils in eating lunch is about twenty minutes, leaving twenty-five minutes for pupil leisure. The principal found it necessary in the interest of discipline to provide occupation for the time, especially in the winter, and this was done by allowing dancing two days during the week. On the other days concerts by mandolin clubs, glee clubs, dramatic clubs, the victrola, and also other various forms of entertainment have been provided. This period if handled with good discriminating judgment ought to prove of distinct value as an uplifting factor in the school.

PARENT INTEREST.

The interest of the parents in this school is not what it should be. No distinct effort appears to have been made to have such an interest aroused. As far as time permits the various teachers have visited parents to talk over student interest but this at best must be limited. I see no reason why a Parents' Night could not be observed to advantage here as well as it is in other schools. By this means parents could be induced to come and get acquainted with the ways of the school and the teaching force.

ATHLETICS.

The constitution and by-laws governing athletic interests has been put into shape and submitted to the different principals and the members of the Board of Education. This is one important step but of itself it is insignificant unless carried out faithfully and supplemented by things that will give it strength.

First, an athletic field is one of the pressing needs. I have talked about this for a long time both to teachers and citizens but the matter has not taken definite form, until recently proposed by Mr. Cook and Mr. Moors. A field rented for this purpose would not fill the requirements of economy. The amount given for rental might be applied in whole or in part annually in improving the ground if it were owned by the district. The students would take pride in maintaining a field of their own more than one they hired. Following this a man should be employed to act as physical director, his duties to be those enumerated in the constitution and by-laws. In addition to these duties he should be required to take charge of military drill, act as substitute teacher when needed and teach regularly each day as his other duties would allow. His qualifications should be in addition to those already mentioned:

1. A graduate from a college or university.
2. Free from habits which naturally tend to lower the moral standards of pupils.
3. A firm purpose to elevate the standards of athletic exercises and contests especially by weeding out all vicious and unsportsmanlike practices.
4. His duties should hold him responsible for the introduction and carrying out of a system of physical exercises for both boys and girls which would be strengthening to their physical, mental and moral standing.

IN GENERAL.

I am impressed with the gain in all the various schools. The courses are being maintained as strongly as may be found in the average secondary schools—perhaps stronger. Graduates now attending higher institutions of learning are acquitting themselves creditably. This in itself is deserving of a great deal of praise but must not be reckoned as the final word in the effectiveness of high schools. They are now to be judged by efficiency in all lines of work, by the number of pupils they can enroll with profit, by the ease and dispatch with which they can accommodate themselves to the growing needs of the community, by the sane methods of teaching employed, by the healthy moral tone they can show, and by the standards they can give to the elementary schools and to the public.

THE DOMESTIC ARTS COURSE.

The number of girls taking this course is eighty-three, a fact which alone justifies its establishment. These are divided into classes as follows: Class O, 8, Class P, 21, Class Q, 11, Class R, 14, Class S, 15, Class O, 14. The ending of another year will see the first graduating class from this course, and I venture to say that for fitness to enter upon the exacting duties of the home, there has never been a previous class in any other course graduated from this school with better ideas of what life means, and of what the home of the average man should be. This first class has always been enthusiastic and capable. Miss Buttrick has had entire charge of it for two years and deserves all kinds of credit for the excellent work she has done. The various departments of Music, Drawing, Sewing and Cooking all have manifested the greatest concern for the success of these young women and they have achieved it. I look forward to the continuation of this course as one of the economic features of Concord school system.

THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

We cannot afford to look with less favor upon the work of the elementary schools, their efforts and accomplishments. Their comparative obscurity in the system, their less pretentious kind of work and their traditional title of "Common Schools" make them less conspicuous than those of secondary grade, yet for scientific teaching, for vital importance to the public school system and as a sub-structure for higher grade work they are entitled to first consideration. We must bear in mind, however, that these pupils, and these teachers labor with great patience and energy in preparing for subsequent work. It may be gratifying to some to know that the superintendent is in appreciation of their efforts and does not hesitate to say in print what he has often said in grade meetings that the responsibility for effective work in the higher grades does not rest lightly upon them and that they meet it faithfully and uncomplainingly. Frequent readjustments of the work are being made which suit prevailing conditions, the outcome of conferences with the teaching corps. This year these changes have been confined mostly to arithmetic, geography, history, and spelling, with the object of bringing them more fully within the comprehension of the pupils. New spelling lists have been prepared for classes C, D, E, F, I, J, and specific methods for handling the subject submitted to the teachers. The carrying out of the five-period topical plan of teaching various subjects has been attended by results positively gratifying. I commend the work of these schools without reserve.

KINDERGARTENS.

There are five kindergartens in our school system and they are all successful. The new kindergarten room at the Walker School is one of the most commodious in the country. The attendance has been smaller than last year but it is gradually growing again. Recent reports by experts who have made exhaustive research on the subject go to show that pupils who have had kindergarten instruction invariably do a higher class of work than those who have never had it. This standard ranges from 15 per cent. to 25 per cent. higher.

THE DEWEY TRAINING SCHOOL.

Seven young women graduated from this institution last June and all are engaged in teaching—two in Union District, and the others in various parts of the state. The present senior class numbers four and the junior class three. The usual activities of the school have been maintained successfully. The requirements of the state with reference to obtaining state certificates are being met and the graduates experience little difficulty in passing the examinations for certification and are having regular work in sewing, cooking and woodworking. Recent tabulations by the United States Bureau of Education show the following regarding city training schools:

Cities having training schools, 67.

Number of students in training: Male, 253; female, 7,913 = 8,166.

MANUAL TRAINING.

I am pleased to report the continued success in this department. I call your attention to the detailed report of Mr. French in Appendix I, which deals definitely with the different forms of work carried on here.

COOKING.

Miss Marion B. Adams resigned at the end of the year to accept a position offered by the state. Miss Marion J. Roby succeeding her brought to her work a sincerity, good judgment, firmness, and a personality which is proving successful. The first two weeks of the fall term were given over to preserving fruit, canning tomatoes, and making jellies. Classes M and N do much in proving recipes at home because time for this in class work is limited. Classes O and P have shown interest and much pride in keeping their note books accurate and neat. They have learned to serve a simple luncheon and breakfast and gave a demonstration of this on Parents Night. Some of the classes are still too large to be handled economically, the largest numbering twenty-eight.

SEWING.

The interest in sewing is reflected in the great amount of finished work, resulting largely from the fact that as soon as a garment is completed it may be taken home and put to immediate use before the maker has outgrown it. Regular class exercises were carried on during Parents Night at the Parker School enabling people to see the girls at work. The new room at the Walker School has been equipped and is in use each week.

ENUMERATION OF WORK DONE.

 130 pieces of underwear, also several hundred models.

3 table-cloths 8 towels 1 drapery curtain

The interest in upper-class work finds expression in dress-making and embroidery rather than millinery, probably because it has not been so fully developed, but we shall expect a continued interest and steady improvement in millinery as a necessary part of the course.

DRAWING.

Few if any other cities can show work of the first four grades which is the equal of that in our schools. The progress of the domestic arts classes in this line of work has been sure but it has been greatly hindered by the unfortunate scheduling of some of the lessons, which could hardly be obviated. The study of Art History calls for a good text-book but such an one is not in print. The one we use is in pamphlet form published by the Prang Educational Co. The schedule of this year allowed thirty minutes less time per week in classes A, B, C, D and gave the same additional time to classes E, F, G, H. Miss Jones, assistant, has charge of the entire work in classes A to L inclusive. The drawings from these schools are looked over by the supervisor once each semester, and her actual teaching time is given to the Domestic Arts classes, Classes M and N, the studio class and to high school electives.

MUSIC.

The study of music has a disciplinary value equal to that of any other branch in the entire curricula of school work. The results of a year's effort in this line show increasing ability to read music at sight, improvement in tonal quality, better expression of musical emotion, and a cheerfulness among pupils while doing the work.

In the junior high schools chorus singing grows in strength, solidity and intelligence. This is especially noted in tenor and bass parts.

In the senior high school the chorus comprises three hundred voices of average ability. Interest in glee clubs and other musical organizations has been maintained. The school orchestra, made up of pupils from this school and the junior high schools, is an organization of which the city should be proud. It has lost some of its former efficient members by graduation but the earnestness displayed by those who comprise it now will undoubtedly repair this loss. A set of tympani and a double bass have been purchased out of the high school concert fund.

The requirements for the domestic arts classes have been modified somewhat in favor of art appreciation.

The instructor will ask for some changes of text-books and I believe they are needed.

NIGHT SCHOOL.

The night school of this year began October 2, 1914, and ended January 21, 1915. The history of previous schools of this kind has been repeated in the one of this year in about every detail. We have been able to secure the services of the same corps of teachers for the past few years, a fact in itself of great benefit to those who attend. The enrollment of 1915 was larger by one pupil than that of 1914. The prevailing nationalities were Albanian, Greek, Swedish, Finnish, Turkish and Russian. Expansion of the night school into one taking up advanced work in manual training lines I believe should be tried next year. Probably a class in mechanical drawing would give a fair idea of how extensive such a demand might be. There are room conveniences and no doubt competent teachers can be secured.

SOME EVENTS OF THE YEAR.

Historic Pageant.

At the close of the school year last June the history of Concord was memorialized by the pupils of the Parker School in a pageant of events enacted in costume at White Park. The work which this entailed was carried out by the teaching corps and the pupil body with zeal. Very many people attended and it was the general opinion that the affair was highly creditable and well worth the effort it cost. Miss Dickerman and her able corps. of assistants received due praise for its conception and success. The entire cost of this event was $34.

English Prize Essay Contest.

The contest in English prize essays was held at the Parker School on Saturday, May 2, 1914. Fifty-five pupils took part, being the largest number ever recorded in such a contest in this city and resulting from a plan put in operation for the first time. This allowed pupils of the various classes to compete against each other without the futility of contending against the older and more experienced pupils. The plan follows:

For pupils of classes M and N, O and P, Q and R, S and T, U and V, two prizes of $3 and $2 respectively, for best and second best essays in each division were offered.

Out of the entire number of contestants the ones having the best and second best essays were awarded an additional $6 and $4 respectively. The contest was judged to be meritorious and of value to the schools. More detailed information may be found in Appendix II.

Events of the Year.

The new Walker School was opened February 1, 1915. The dedicatory exercises occurred February 8, 1915.

Memorial Day commemorative exercises were held in all the schools.

The Star Spangled Banner was sung by all the pupils of the city and the nation at the same hour on September 14, 1914.

The annual exhibition of Manual Training was held Wednesday, June 17, 1914—attendance, 408.

The annual exhibition of Drawing, Sewing and Cooking was held at the Parker School on Friday and Saturday, June 19, 20, 1914—attendance large.

Parents' Day was observed at the Parker School, December 11, 1914—attendance large.

Victrolas were purchased through the efforts of the pupils in the Penacook and the Harriet P. Dame Schools. The following schools now have them: Cogswell, Penacook, Dewey, Franklin, High, Harriet P. Dame.

DEFECTIVE CHILDREN.

Another waste in the expenditure of public money is to be found in asking the teacher to use her time in attempting to develop the minds of some children whose capacity for such development is wanting. Our country is to be guided and its destiny determined by the capable part of our population, the part possessed by nature of sufficient mentality to respond to the effects of the teaching corps and it is in this one respect that we may be in serious error—that of using the most of our energy, our money, and our care in trying to bring fortune out of misfortune, mental vigor out of imbecility and virtue out of vice. No nation on earth is so possessed of the humanistic idea as our own and it is right if, in our kindness of heart, we do not make the bright pay tribute to the dull, the courageous to the cowardly, and the virtuous to the vicious. It is this capable portion of our pupil population that needs our great if not our greatest public concern. By segregating the incapables into schools or institutions fitted specially for the unfortunate, the capable portion may realize that amount of attention which justly belongs to them. The public school teacher should not be compelled to attempt the impossible. The teachers of the elementary schools were asked by the superintendent to send to him an answer to the following question.

“Will you please submit to me the number of pupils in each class whom you know to be feeble-minded to such an extent that they are a drag on the school and would be better off in special institutions?” The results of the question are as follows:

Class,	A.	B.	C.	D.	E.	F.	G.	H.	I.	J.	L.
	3	0	3	2	2	5	2	0	0	1	9	9=36
*Deduct,											4	5=12
	3	0	3	2	1	4	1	0	0	1	5	14=24

*Not sure about special institution. One teacher said not Laconia.

These twenty-four children are a source of economic waste because the mass instruction that must necessarily prevail in public schools cannot reach their individual needs. Either they should be segregated in a school by themselves or sent to those institutions which make a specialty of training deficient children.

SCHOOL LUNCHES.

Coincident with the adoption of the six-hour session in the high school a school lunch was begun. This custom had been observed in the Parker School for a number of years, also in a very limited way at the Chandler School. The work is now more completely organized than ever before. It has been successful first in promoting better health among the pupils, second in relieving the anxieties of many parents about the noon meals for their children, and third in being remunerative to those who furnish it. The whole matter was put into the hands of the committee on cooking who carefully worked the plan out and carried it to success. These lunches furnished by Joseph Nardini are under the immediate charge of Harry Danforth. Supervision is given by Miss Dickerman and the corps of teachers at the Parker

School assisted by Mr. Ada, and by Mr. Cook and Miss Buttrick at the high school. The scheme has met with good success and the character of the food is such that many of the teachers partake of it each day and, in the Parker School, visitors from this and neighboring states have expressed satisfaction with it. A number of pupils from the Chandler School get their noon meal at the Parker lunch. Delegations from the public schools of Tilton and Belmont visited here and chose it for their noon meal. A large number of the superintendents from various parts of the state took dinner here on February 24 and manifested their approval. I personally have averaged one visit a week to this lunch and find it adequate in quantity and quality for a good meal.

THE WIDER USE OF THE SCHOOL PLANT.

The idea of allowing public property to lie idle for any length of time has little of true economy. If our people are called upon to build expensive buildings they should be built for continuous use and not for thirty-eight weeks out of the fifty-two. This movement has just begun in our city and should be carried very much farther. It has been solved partly by lengthening the school day and by granting the use of some halls for various organizations distinctly public in their nature. The formation of the proposed Civic Union should go a long way toward bringing this use of school buildings about but it can be done still more effectively by having an optional continuous school session throughout the entire year. This might be begun in a simple way by trying out continuation schools during the summer months one in the Walker building and one in the Rumford building.

On Friday, February 26, 1915, I made inquiry of the elementary schools regarding something which may tend to show that this idea is not visionary. The state child labor laws with slight modifications forbid the employment of children under the age of fourteen years. The average age of pupils in the highest elementary school grade is thirteen years so that we may safely say that $\frac{9}{10}$ of these pupils remaining at home during the summer are not allowed to work by law. From this inquiry I have made the following tabulation:

1. Number pupils in elementary schools reported,	1,534
2. Number going away from home during the entire summer vacation,	251
3. Number going away from home a part of the summer vacation (not included in No. 2),	483
4. Number remaining at home during the entire summer vacation,	800

From this it would appear that a number of the 800 pupils were neither allowed to work during the summer vacation nor does the state make any provision for their occupation in any way. As many of the parents of these pupils are obliged to work all day it would seem as if the state or the city should make some provision for their children in the form of useful occupation during the summer vacation when they cannot be employed lawfully at manual labor. I believe we should make an attempt to relieve the situation somewhat by a trial of continuation schools the object being

1. To furnish some useful manual occupation.
2. To furnish a reasonable amount of mental occupation.

The result should show (a) in a larger high school enrollment, reasoning that backward pupils might thus gain two months' extra help; (b) in keeping pupils away from places of ill repute and from the evils of idleness; (c) in giving pupils more careful bodily training; (d) in relieving working parents of anxiety over the whereabouts of their children. From the table we find the following situation;

	North End.	Centre.	South End.
1. Number of pupils enrolled,	345	389	496
2. Number of pupils going away during the entire summer,	63	111	84
3. Number of pupils going away a part of the summer,	97	177	191
4. Number of pupils staying at home during the entire summer,	185	101	221

From these figures showing the large number of pupils remaining at home during the entire summer it would seem as if provision should be made in their interest.

MODERNISM IN SCHOOLS.

The flight of time becomes so apparently more rapid to one of advancing years that conception of its departure and the changes that necessarily attend it frequently work to the disadvantage of even rational progress. The school of today is not the school of yesterday either in content or intent. To have it remain so would require no change in the character of the population, in ways of living, in manner of employment, and in public ideals. No change means stagnation. Ways of doing things vary with the onward march of time much to the surprise and often the disgust of those who were taught under different conditions. However strong the pictures of our youth, however dear the customs of our fathers, nevertheless this age of invention will not abide the one-horse chaise, the horsecar nor the stage-coach. Inability to grasp the true meaning of this idea has caused many a business failure. The principle is just as true of education as of any other field of activity, and true in all its different phases. Old methods in education handed down by Greek philosophers, and changing through the centuries as conditions compelled, have not entirely disappeared. The Platonic theory of education sought the development of a race of philosophic statesmen who would rule with absolute justice and truth. To realize this it would prescribe the study of music, literature, gymnastics, generalized arithmetic, geometry, astronomy, musical harmony, pure philosophy, and dialectic but only for those who possessed a proper commingling of the physical and the mental with gentleness of spirit. The tendency of education after the plans of Greek philosophy was to become centered in the few, to promote class consciousness, and to draw a harsh line between the educated and the uneducated, a scholasticism distinctly autocratic. Other manifestations of education were long-drawn countenances, flowing unkempt beards and hair, cloaks of sombre hue and a variety of other really meaningless insignia, reflections of which may be seen even today.

These ideas in changing form and adaptability ran down through the centuries completely possessing the popular mind and revealing themselves in the isolation of the highly educated from the plain people, giving rise to peculiar manifestations from the supernatural revelations of the alchemist to the educational miser concealing valuable scientific truths because they were held to be too sacred for the common run of mankind. The sacredness of education as a thing sufficient unto itself has largely left the popular mind and in its place appears an educational plan born of wonderful advances in art and science to be applied to the constantly changing civilization of today, the most complex in the history of the world. Even up to the threshold of the twentieth century the philosophic idea held almost undisputed sway in the educational world. The theory of formal discipline remained unshaken because unassailed and its futile attempts to realize complete concepts in everything often called the unfortunate individual who failed "good for nothing," and pushed aside as of no use those who were not mentally strong enough to grasp the abstract. Such a condition caused to spring up forms of punishment, the tortures of an "Educational Inquisition," such as severe bodily beatings, tying up pupils' heads in towels, putting clothes-pins on tender tongues, thumbing cracks in floors until fainting relieved the unfortunate victim and a hundred and one other savageries, disgusting to recall, all because God had not given the child ability to become interested in that which could not interest him—because the fine-spun theories of the scholastics failed to materialize at the right time.

Modern educational methods result from material changes brought about in very recent years. Our present civilization calls for the greater amount of human effort to be directed toward elevating the masses to a higher plane of living, toward breaking down the barriers of autocratic scholasticism, toward teaching the average man how to live, and to have his position in life valued at its true worth. The scholastic of today and the one of a century ago are two different types. Today, as before and as it ever will be, ripe scholarship continues to be the ruling force in education; but its garb, its manifestations, and its purposes are not to be those of former days. Education now is for the uplift of all humanity. About once in ten years the idea becomes recurrent that modern methods and ways in education are destroying childhood and fail of accomplishing proper results; that any plan which interferes with the conventionalities of ancient methods of posture in recitation with its measured movement, rigid positions, and the whispered hush, is also necessarily destructive of a child's chances of obtaining a proper education. This usually finds its most concrete form in those whose hastening pace toward the reward of a well-spent life breeds great concern over the freedom allowed the motor activities of growing children in the school room, those who have not yet shaken off the idea that the "solemn stillness" of the schools of yore is yet the best atmosphere for the modern school. It is true that many learned men came forth from those schools, often in spite of them, not necessarily because of them. All these departures from rigid Puritanism are but results from a reaction against academic specialization and an evergrowing lack of confidence in methods born of ancient theories. Modern methods discount manners in recitation, discount formality and seek to put in its place a free manifestation of individual interest mattering not whether the pupil raises his hand in a natural way, whether he stands or sits as his ease and interest may suggest. An expression of individual interest and thought by the pupil is a fundamental of good teaching. The purpose of our education is a direct preparation for the demands of active life by making this preparation and general discipline mutually dependent. Our present mode of living, our democratic form of government, our ideas of progress will never again abide avenues to education through specialized unapproachable subjects and methods which repress full expression, nor will our schools ever again be permeated with the oppressive hush, the awe, and the rigid positions of old, but they will continue to open up to the child possibilities of mental freedom, lively interest, an earnest desire for educational growth, and to lend a helping hand to all, not the few alone. Their chief work should be broadly humanistic. The unfortunate who has little chance to shake off the grip of his miserable environments needs our concern, the ill-nourished child, the child of the drunkard, the child who is forced to work beyond his strength. Such as these, while they may never become shining lights in any field, nevertheless may become steadfast responsible citizens and our country needs them now if ever. It is this strengthening of personality, this establishing of character through perfect knowledge that means community uplift. Personality will vary with the individual but whatever measure he may possess will be gained through perfecting knowledge and character. Our modern education, then, is not to be governed by Platonic theory nor ancient caprices, rather more nearly by the ideas of Socrates who, as the friend of man, saw some good in every human being.

The year just closing has been productive of much for which the citizens of this district should be thankful. I take this occasion to commend the entire teaching corps for their zeal, their forbearance, and steadfastness in our educational endeavor, to compliment the Board of Education for their sincerity, accuracy, and firmness in working for the true interests of the schools and the people in general. The best I can offer in return is my full measure of strength and concern for the educational interests of Concord.

Respectfully submitted,

L. J. RUNDLETT,
Superintendent.

APPENDIX I.

APPENDIX I.

To the Board of Education of Union School District:

I submit herewith the fourth semi-annual report of the condition of the schools under the reorganization scheme adopted in 1910.

FINANCIAL.

The financial statements in previous reports of this kind have been marked by conservatism, based upon the judgment of business men, teachers and others and a liberal discount allowed from this. The late Judge John M. Mitchell called the estimates too conservative and named $50,000 as none too large a sum to build a serviceable addition to the high school. Current expenses include additional fuel, janitor service, lighting, etc. Additional tuition is that shown by the difference between elementary school tuition and high school (classes M, N) tuition—$37 for each tuition pupil. Graduation expenses include expense of hall, orator, graduation suits for pupils (saved to parents) reckoned at $10 per pupil, and other incidentals. Rooms discontinued. At the time one room was discontinued in the Walker building thus saving the salary of one teacher.

Bond issue (additional)	$50,000.00
Interest on same four years at $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. . .	7,000.00
Current expenses that would have been incurred	6,000.00
One room discontinued (three years)	1,950.00
Additional tuition (classes M, N)	1,356.00
Graduation expenses	4,000.00
	$70,306.00

It has been hinted that the increase in the annual budget is caused by this scheme. In the first place it should be apparent to anybody that, under like conditions, an educational system of eleven years can be conducted more economically than one of twelve years.

In 1909-1910 the annual budget was	$86,478.63
In 1913-1914 the annual budget was	96,748.09
	<hr/>
Excess of 1914 budget over 1910 was	$10,269.46

I think the following table, carefully prepared, will fully account for this increase.

	1909-1910.	1913-1914.	Increase.
The maximum salary of High School Teachers (master) . .	$2,200.00	$2,300.00	$100.00
The maximum salary of High School Teachers (sub-master)	1,000.00	1,500.00	500.00
The maximum salary of High School Teachers (male assistants)	1,000.00	1,200.00	200.00
The maximum salary of High School Teachers (women) . .	800.00	900.00	100.00
The maximum salary of Grade Teachers	550.00	650.00	100.00
The minimum salary of Grade Teachers	300.00	400.00	100.00
The maximum salary of Kindergartens (principals)	475.00	650.00	175.00
The minimum salary of Kindergartens (principals)	300.00	400.00	100.00
The maximum salary of Kindergartens (assistants)	375.00	450.00	75.00
The minimum salary of Kindergartens (assistants)	300.00	350.00	50.00

Basing my deductions upon this I find the following:

Increase over 1910.

High School salaries	$1,650.00
Parker School salaries	350.00
Chandler School salaries allowed as expense caused by the system		$2,400.00
Garrison School salaries	750.00
Eastman School salaries	250.00
Rumford School salaries	1,650.00
Kimball School salaries	1,350.00
Penacook School salaries	400.00
Dewey School salaries	275.00
Franklin School salaries	350.00
Merrimack School salaries	600.00

H. P. Dame School salaries.....	$300.00
Tahanto School salaries.....	200.00
Cogswell School salaries.....	200.00
Morrill School salaries.....	3,250.00
Sewing School salaries.....	758.00
Cooking School salaries.....	125.00
Music.....
Military Drill.....
Janitors.....	373.00
Superintendent.....
Financial Agent.....
Superintendent's Clerk.....	60.00
Truant Officer.....
Nurse.....	700.00
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$13,591.00	$2,400.00
Excess of 1913-1914 salaries over 1909-1910		11,191.00
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$13,591.00	$13,591.00

Excess of raises in salaries over excess in budget = $11,191.00 - $10,269.46 = $921.54.

In addition to this we may note that school supplies have generally increased in price in the last four years. We bought coal for $6.05 in 1910. Last year it cost $6.45 this year $6.80. Cord wood has advanced. Slabs cost $2 a cord more and other things accordingly.

I allowed $2,400 increased expense in the Chandler School. As a matter of fact this school would have to be in commission under any system as matters now stand. I have not the least hesitation in saying that under the eleven year organization we are conducting the schools from three to four thousand dollars a year more economically than under the former plan.

THE TEACHING FORCE.

	Number of teachers.		Number of pupils.		Average number of pupils to a teacher.
	1910.	1914.	1910.	1914.	1910.	1914.
High School (4 years)	18	26	458	657	25 $\frac{1}{2}$	25 $\frac{1}{2}$

This shows that the increase in teaching force is warranted by the increase in the number of pupils.

All schools	84	89	2,604	2,666	31	29.9
-----------------------	----	----	-------	-------	----	------

This shows an increase of five teachers over 1910 accounted for as follows:

- 1—Extra teacher called for by introduction of the domestic arts course in high school.
- 2—Special teachers one each in Rumford and Kimball Schools (Plan adopted by the Board since 1910).
- 1—Clerk in Chandler school.
- 1—A new school of sixteen pupils in the Garrison School.
- 1—New school in Harriet P. Dame building (called for by increase in pupils).
- 1—Kindergarten assistant in West Concord.

This makes seven extra teachers for whom the reorganization scheme is not responsible, otherwise we would be employing two less teachers than in 1910.

1910	$33.14	$14.76	$23.95

Shows a slight decrease over 1910 although salaries are much increased.

In a final summing up of the advantages of this plan of grading we may say without fear of contradiction that for four years it has proved its worth in the following particulars:

1. In financial economy
 - a. District saved from additional bonds—see statement at the beginning.
 - b. District saved interest on same to the amount of statement at the beginning.
 - c. Current expense of same.
 - d. Receipt of additional tuition.
 - e. Parents saved expense of graduation.
 - f. Average number of pupils to a teacher no smaller—means no additional expense.
 - g. Average cost per pupil for teacher salaries less than under the former plan.
2. In scholarship
 - a. The freshman class since separation has showed an advance in scholarship of 11.21 per cent.
 - b. The entire high school shows a gain of 3.92 per cent.
3. Attendance
 - a. The four years high school has shown 10.65 per cent. increase in attendance (see table.).
 - b. The five years high school has shown 10.25 per cent. increase in attendance (see table).
 - c. The freshman and sophomore classes have shown a decided decrease in the number leaving school (see table).

It is safe to conclude that this gain is due in a large measure to the elimination of one year from the former grading system. This may be seen in a decrease in the number leaving school during the first two years, in the working of the compulsory attendance laws, and from the fact that, being compelled to attend the high school, many desire to continue the course even after the compulsory laws are of no effect. The average age of pupils has decreased ten months since last year.

Nothing has appeared in the working of the system that can be used as a criticism against it. Its mission is being realized in about all the ways mentioned in 1910. Wherever the junior high school plan is being tried it has come to stay if appearances indicate anything. Its application here is marked by increasing strength, and a return to the expense of the former schemes of grading would probably not be tolerated. The points brought forward in its favor at its inception were 1. A saving of school time. 2. Complete utilization of school room. 3. A saving of school money. 4. Putting off one year longer social and athletic distractions which unfortunately attach themselves to high schools. 5. More efficient school work.

A four-years' trial has seen them realized.

L. J. RUNDLETT, Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL NURSE.

Mr. L. J. Rundlett, Superintendent:

DEAR SIR: I submit for your approval my fifth annual report. In reviewing the work done during the year, much has been accomplished of undisputed value to child and parent alike.

Prevention is the keynote of all public health work and toward this end all efforts are directed. By prevention is meant the minimizing of conditions which retard mentally and physically the child's development, and produce effects which interfere with the school life.

A school-nurse might well be called a teacher of practical hygiene, as work with a child does not end in the school. Too much cannot be said in favor of "follow-up" work or home visiting, and this is by far the most important and far-reaching in its results. In this way one comes in contact with the conditions which produce and foster disease.

All defects discovered are reported to parents and they are urged to obtain the services of their family physician. When there is no such physician, as is frequently the case, and circumstances require it, provision for this treatment is made. We hope that a medical examiner will be appointed whose duty shall be to make a physical examination of every child in our city.

The problem of the retarded child is an alarming one, and should receive serious consideration. A list of these children is being prepared, and the Binet test will be given by an expert before the mental age is decided.

If a fresh air room could be opened in the Walker school, much benefit would be derived and several children now out of school by reason of ill-health would be able to return.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE MORRILL SCHOOL OF MECHANIC ARTS.

Mr. L. J. Rundlett, Superintendent of Schools:

In reply to your request I submit the following report of the work at the Morrill School for the past year, which has been marked by no exceptional changes while on the other hand there has been no lack of activity.

* In the elementary schools, pupils taking Manual Training in the afternoon have received two hours per week of instruction since last September. This is an increase of 33 per cent. in time and has resulted in considerable increase in the amount of work accomplished. I have noticed no ill effects on the health of the pupils and have received no complaints. The amount of stock used has increased in the same proportion and will cause an additional cost for Manual Training. Two hours a week is little enough time to be devoted to this work in the 6th and 7th grades, many cities allowing two and one-half and three hours.

Change in Teachers.

At the end of the school year 1913-1914 we lost two of our teachers. Both had served their time here as student assistants and received certificates. Mr. Oesting received a good position in the High School of Plainfield, N. J., and Mr. Brock accepted a position in Manchester, N. H. To fill the vacancies thus caused, Mr. Julius Wiesmann, a practical pattern-maker was employed and Mr. Perley W. Ordway was taken in as a student assistant. Mr. Ordway graduated from the Concord High School in June, 1913, and spent one year doing practical work at the carpenter trade. Both are doing very satisfactory work.

New Work: Dewey Training Class.

In September the class from the Dewey Training School was admitted. This is the first work in Manual Training to be done with girls in Concord. They have spent two hours a week at the Morrill School. One hour has been spent in demonstrating the problems and lectures on the history and theory of Manual Training and the other hour has been spent on regular bench work; the girls following the regular course as outlined for the K class pupils. A few special pieces have been made by those in advance of the class. Although this class has had only one-half the time in the shop that is given the boys, its members have done nearly twice the amount of work of any boys' class and the quality is far superior. At present we are taking up the chapter on Manual Training which appears in Tyler's book "Growth and Education." This is read aloud and discussed.

Printing Department.

The printing department has been open to special pupils in the afternoon from 1.30-5.00. We have a few boys who come here from the elementary schools every afternoon. These are the older boys who would gain by this practical work, but the bulk of the class consists of boys from the Parker and High Schools. At the beginning of the year we were greatly handicapped because these boys were all beginners but notwithstanding this fact we have done more printing this year than ever before in actual impressions as the attached list will show. We have printed 122,000 sheets which consisted of 160,000 impressions (some work has to be run through the press two or three times) while last year 76,000 was our output. There can be no question of the value of this department either from a financial or an educational standpoint. There are 25 boys enrolled at present from the Parker and High Schools and they are doing this work entirely outside of their regular school hours simply because they are interested in it.

Suggestions for Repair Work.

There are in the elementary schools today quite a number of boys who are backward and would be benefited by some of the rougher and cruder forms of hand work. During the fall term we took 12 of these for afternoon work. They were carefully examined and graded by the Binet system of measuring intelligence and were given two afternoons of woodworking and three of printing a week. While only 3 showed any ability to do printing all seemed to improve in woodworking.

At present the crowded condition of the school is such that we can take these boys only once a week for the regular manual training work with the regular classes. Under these conditions the teachers cannot do repair work nor odd jobs but must confine themselves more or less to an outlined course.

It would seem that a great many odd jobs and much repair work could be done by a man specially employed for this purpose. He could have his headquarters at the Morrill School; could use the specials for helpers and also the power and equipment available here. If a man could be procured who was an all-round workman, capable of not only doing woodworking but also painting, plumbing, and electric wiring he could be kept busy and at the same time these boys would get a form of industrial training which they could receive in no other way. I believe it would pay the District to employ a man for this work. It is to be regretted that there is no longer room in the Morrill School for an Industrial class. This class was a decided success and was discontinued only because of the crowded conditions of the school and not because of the lack of pupils.

New Walker School.

On the completion of the new Walker School the woodworking equipment consisting of sixteen benches was removed from the north basement of the High School to the room designed for manual training in the new building.

This room will accommodate 17 pupils. It is well lighted both in the day time and by artificial lights at night. It is situated directly at the foot of the stairs leading from an outside door which gives easy access without disturbing the rest of the school. The floors above are absolutely sound-proof and not the slightest noise can be heard in the room above. At present it is being used one forenoon and three afternoons a week, a teacher being sent from the Morrill School for these periods. The pupils from the Walker, Eastman, St. John's and a few from the Garrison are accommodated here.

New Equipment.

During the past year quite a little new equipment was added. In the forge shop four new forges were installed making a total of ten, filling the room. In the woodworking department six lathes were added making a full equipment. In both cases this equipment has been in use and it would not have been possible to have given all the pupils the required instruction without it.

In the machine shop a gas forge and a universal grinder were added. The gas forge is a great assistance in this department as it saves the instructor leaving his class to go to the forge shop to dress tools or oversee the babbitting of engines and such work.

With the grinder we are able to do hardened steel work and also grind centers and cutters and other work which in the past had to be sent outside.

The school as a whole, with the exception of the machine shop, is now fully equipped and in fine condition. Of course small additions will have to be made from time to time but with the exception of the department above mentioned there need be no great expense for additional equipment for some time to come. The equipment in the machine shop is very good as far as it goes but lacks two or three of the modern types of machines. In order to teach in accordance with modern methods of shop practice we should add these important machines. The milling machine is one of the most useful machine tools used in modern manufacture and boys taking the shop practice course should be instructed in its use. With it we could do a considerable amount of small tool-making and gear-cutting. At present we are obliged to have all gear work done outside, thus losing the educational value to the pupils. A Hendy Universal Milling machine can be bought for $725 while the freight, belting, and extra tools would cost about $75.

There are 43 boys taking machine shop practice at present who would profit by the instruction given on this equipment. Visitors invariably remark on the completeness of every other department in the school and upon the absence of this machine. The Berlin High School has a milling machine and the Nashua High School is about to purchase one.

Conclusion.

In conclusion I would say that the past year has been one of the brightest I have ever spent at teaching. I have not only had the hearty and efficient support of an excellent corps of assistants but there has been a feeling of closer relation and sympathy with the general teaching force of the District. I wish to express my appreciation for the hearty support I have received from the Superintendent of Schools and also from the principals of the High, Parker, and Chandler Schools and the teachers in general.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR W. FRENCH.

INCIDENTS IN CONCORD HISTORY.

TO BE GIVEN AT
WHITE PARK, CONCORD, N. H.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 9, 1914, 3.30 P. M.

This pageant, arranged and given by the Parker School, will portray events that have occurred in Penacook, Rumford and Concord.

If Tuesday should be rainy, the pageant will be given on the first pleasant day.

MARCH.

PROLOGUE.

"I, the heir of all the ages, in the foremost files of time."

1. Spirit of the Parker School.
2. The fairy's announcement.—"Boy, I find you wondering about this fair city, how it came to be, and what manner of boys they were who went to school in the old days. What you are idly dreaming of, I will show you. Know, then, that certain spirits, brave, steadfast, and untiring, have built this city. They are Penacook, Rumford, and Concord. You shall see them."
3. Spirit of Penacook.—"You little know of the toil and the fears that attended the beginnings of this settlement. Wild forests were cleared away, and Indian enemies subdued before my Plantation of Penacook was habitable and safe."
4. Spirit of Rumford.—"I have the dignity of an Incorporated Town, yet the terror of the Indians and the arduous taming of the land was not over even in my day."
5. Spirit of Concord.—"Upon the toils of my sisters, Penacook and Rumford, as foundation, I have built my stately city. I have ever wished to make industrious and able workers, and patriotic citizens, and to this end I have made the schools my special care."

6. The Spirit of Parker School.—"I have never known of you and your sisters, nor of these long-ago happenings. It all sounds as if it would make a good story for you to tell me."
7. Spirit of Concord.—"Better than that, I can call up before you here some scenes which were enacted on this ground in the past. Come and sit by me, and you shall see strange sights. It is right that you should know these men of old, for you, boy, are their heir, deeply indebted to them. Penacook, send your warriors to summon a scene from the past!"

INCIDENT I.

The Bridal of Penacook; or, The Legend of Weetamoo, 1631.

(Dramatized from Whittier's "The Bridal of Penacook.")

EPISODE I. The Wedding.

Scene—"Thy Penacook Valley was fairer than these,
And greener its grasses and taller its trees,
Ere the sound of an axe in the forest had rung,
Or the mower his scythe in the meadows had swung."

Weetamoo greets her father, Passaconaway, chief of the Penacook Indians.—Entrance of Winnepurket and Weetamoo.—Dance.—Interruption from an aged medicine man with a prophecy of coming evil.—Departure of Weetamoo and Winnepurket to the latter's northern country.

EPISODE II. The New Home.

Scene—"And eastward cold, wide marshes stretched away, Dull, dreamy flats without a bush or tree."

Weetamoo meets her husband returning from the trail.—Winnepurket, though proud of the dark-eyed Weetamoo, does not love her passionately.—His interests are centered only in the fight and hunt.—Entrance of messenger from far-off Penacook.—Requests that Weetamoo be allowed to visit her old home.—Permission granted by council.

EPISODE III. The Fate of Weetamoo.

Scene—"The hills are dearest which our childish feet have climbed the earliest."

Passaconaway's confidence to his warriors, that Weetamoo, happy at first to be once more with her people, has become anxious because Winnepurket has not summoned her back to her home.—Message sent to the Saugus Sachem:—

"Eagle of Saugus,—in the woods the dove
Mourns for your sheltering wings of love."

Entrance of runner with a return message:—

“If now no more a mat is found
Of all which line her father’s wigwam round,
Let Penacook call out her warrior train
And send her back with wampum gifts again.”

Rage of Passaconaway.—Refused to allow Weetamoo to return.—
Sorrow of Weetamoo.—Determination of Weetamoo to go alone to Winnepurket.—Telling of her plans to two Indian maidens.—
Departure.—Entrance of breathless messenger with news that Weetamoo has met her fate in the river’s treacherous falls.

Song of the Indian women—

“The Dark eye has left us,
The Spring Bird has flown.
On the pathway of spirits
She wanders alone.
The song of the wood-dove has died on our shore,— Mat wonck kunna—monee! We hear it no more.”

INCIDENT II.

The Story of Hannah Dustin, 1697.

EPISODE I. Arrival at the Camp.

On an island near Penacook, the squaws and children await the arrival of the braves.—With them is a captive boy, Leonardson.—Loud warwhoops are heard. The war party returns, dragging with them two white captives, Hannah Dustin and Mary Neff.—The dance of victory is performed.—The party goes on, leaving two Indian families with prisoners.

EPISODE II. The Taunting.

The squaws jeer at the women and laugh at their weariness.—They threaten torture, saying, “Think what awaits you in our village! Stript must ye be and scourged! The gauntlet must ye run!”—Mary Neff weeps.—One little child offers her some berries. His mother strikes them from his hand and tramples them under foot. An Indian brave strides forward, and tauntingly says, “What need you trouble yourself? If the God of the pale-face will have you delivered, you shall be so.”—The Indians crowd into a wigwam.—The captives are left alone.

EPISODE III. The Plot.

Hannah Dustin repeats the Indian’s words, “If the God of the pale-faces will have you delivered, you shall be so.”—Springs to her feet, crying out, "We shall be delivered!"—Mary Neff believes her insane, but Hannah says, "Our deliverance must be through our own hands!" Crosses to Leonardson and questions him as to the Indian customs. He says, "Tonight they will eat and drink much, and then sleep heavily."—She charges him to learn to use the tomahawk in order that he may teach them, and thus all escape.—A warrior approaches.—Leonardson flatters him into teaching the stroke.—Indian leaves them.—Hannah plots with Mary Neff to kill them at night when all are in a drunken slumber.—Mary demurs, but Hannah speaks of her slaughtered baby and explains, "To kill such wretches is to do God's own will."—Leonardson teaches them the stroke.

EPISODE IV. The Deliverance.

The drunken Indians sleep after the feast.—Hannah, Mary Neff and Leonardson steal upon them.—They kill and then scalp the savages.—One squaw escapes.—The child, who showed kindness, is spared.

EPISODE V. The Departure.

The white women and boy steal a canoe.—They escape from the island, and go down the Merrimack to Haverhill.—Return of escaped squaw with Indians. The slain Indians are taken away.

Spirit of Concord.—"Rumford, will you not send for some scene that you can show us?"

Rumford sends messengers.

INCIDENT III.

The Bradley Massacre, 1746.

EPISODE I. The Ambush.

(a) Indians hold a short conversation.—Go into ambush.

EPISODE II. The Encounter.

(a) Indian steps out.—Looks along the path.—Signals his companions.—Steps back.

(b) Bradley's command approaches on way to mill.

(c) Daniel Gilman pursuing a hawk passes Indians in safety.—Peters, Lufkin and Bean come next, followed by Samuel Bradley and Stickney, Roberts and Lieutenant Bradley bring up the rear.

(d) When men are opposite ambush Indians open fire.—Peters, Bean and Lufkin fall.—Second volley is answered by the Bradleys.—Samuel Bradley falls.—Indians surround rest.—Stickney and Roberts are captured.

(e) Lieutenant Bradley, refusing quarter, fights alone until killed.

EPISODE III. The Victors.

(a) Indians loot the bodies.—Join in war dance.—Interrupted by three shots from Rumford Garrison.—Flee.

EPISODE IV. The Relief.

(a) The Ladd detachment arrives on the run followed by ox-cart and settlers.

(b) Party halts at scene of conflict.—Places dead in cart.—File off.

(c) Met by settlers from town.

DANCE INTERLUDE.

The Spirit of Out-of-Doors, as personified in the Indian girl, teaches woodland grace to the Spirit of the Town as typified by the wondering Puritan maid.—In turn, the Puritan influences the Indian to thrift and industry.

Spirit of Concord.—"Still attend, O Spirit of the Parker School, to these in my later town of Concord. Go, Spirits, and bid them bring a Concord scene!"

INCIDENT IV.

The Signing of the Constitution, 1788.

"United, we stand; Divided, we fall."

EPISODE I.

Village green near Meeting House.—Time, noon.—Boys blowing May-horns.—Crowd assembles.—Amuses itself by games and tricks.—Constable keeps order.—Dignitaries of State and ministers arrive.—Enter meeting-house.—Crowd continues interrupted amusements.—Dignitaries sign Constitution.—One copy handed to mounted messenger who departs post-haste for Philadelphia.—Belated members arrive.—Clerk reads duplicate copy to crowd.—Crowd disperses, cheering lustily.

INCIDENT V.

Lafayette's Visit to Concord, 1825.

EPISODE I.

(a) A rider brings the news.

(b) The Committee of Welcome confers with the people.

William Kent: "How is the visitor to be entertained?"

Citizens: "We should be glad to have His Excellency at our house, but my wife is ill."—"We are having an ell built on, and it will not be finished."—Etc.

Mistress Kent: "I think, gentlemen, that the general will enjoy the May Dance that the children are preparing. Then I will have a reception in his honor."

EPISODE II.

(a) Lafayette is met by the committee.

William Kent: "General Lafayette, in behalf of the citizens of Concord, we offer you a cordial welcome to our village and hospitalities. In the various climates through which you have recently passed, you have experienced a uniform temperature in the public feeling toward you. It has been warm, it has been grateful; and in this northern region, sir, where we are no strangers to cold and frost, you will find no chill in our affections."

Lafayette: "Citizens of Concord, it is not unusual to find a torrid zone frigid, and a frigid zone torrid, but to come to a land temperate in climate, and, I hope, in feeling, is delightful. I am glad to find your city in such a prosperous condition, and hope it will continue so."

(b) The citizens sing:

"North and South, and East, and West,

Grateful homage have expressed—

Greeting loud the nation's guest:

Son of Liberty;—

Whom tyrants cursed, whom Heaven approved—

And millions long have mourned and loved—

He comes by fond entreaties moved

The Granite State to see."

(c) Lafayette meets the Revolutionary veterans: "I am proud to meet them. It would be a pity if any town did not have some one who had represented it in that heroic war."

(d) The children dance.

EPISODE III.

- (a) A reception is held at the Kents' house. Lafayette leads the minuet with Mistress Kent.

EPISODE IV.

- (a) The general departs for Dover.
 (b) The committee congratulate each other:
 "I think Concord has done its duty."

FINALE.

"Nothing useless is or low,
 Each thing in its place is best."

Concord greets Spirit of the Past—

Concord: "Who art thou?"

Spirit: "I am the Spirit of the Past, and thou?"

Concord: "I am modern Concord."

Spirit: "And what hast thou to show me for thy labors?"

Concord raises staff. Figures glide in, representing

Railroads,	Commerce,
Belting Industry,	Education,
Printing,	Music,
Quarrying Industry,	History,
Electricity,	Foundry,
Woodwork,	Agriculture,
Silver Industry,	Manufacturing,
Church,	Charities,
The State,	Militia.

Concord raises staff.—Enter Spirit of the Future.

Concord: "Who art thou?"

Spirit: "I am the Spirit of the Future who shall come after thee."

Concord again raises staff.—Figures take places.

Concord: "Spirit of the Past, these are what I have to show thee for the centuries that have passed since thy time. Spirit of the Future, these are what I bequeath to thee from which thou wilt build even greater than I."

Spirit of Parker School leads Spirit of the Future to the center.

TABLEAU.

Chorus—Hurrah for old New England.

"This is our own, our native home,
 Tho' poor and rough she be,
 The home of many a noble soul,
 The birth place of the free."

Make thou its halls with wisdom shine
To light the way of youth.

Make it a city on a hill
Whose light cannot be hid;
A beacon-ray, to guard from ill
The path young footsteps tread.

Let gentle peace with brow of light
Here fold her balmy wing,
And love and wisdom both unite
Their sweetest strains to sing.

So shall the gems of mental worth
That gather in these halls,
In polished brillianey come forth
To meet stern duty's calls.

And this shall be the "mount of light,"
Whence rays of beauty rare
Shall gild the gloom of error's night
With heavenly radiance fair.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES.

To the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Concord:

The trustees of the Public Library are pleased to transmit the annual report of the Librarian for the past year, from which it appears that the demands upon that department have been greater than for the preceding year. It is gratifying to note that the output of books has increased by over a thousand volumes.

The employment of an additional assistant for a part of the time has been fully appreciated by the rest of the force and has enabled the library to more nearly fulfil its mission as a civilizing agent in the community. No mistake was made in this respect.

The trustees request that the amount of the appropriation for the library for the ensuing year may be the same as last year, viz., fifty-three hundred dollars.

REUBEN E. WALKER,
President, Board of Trustees.

CONCORD, N. H., February 1, 1915.

REPORT OF THE CITY LIBRARIAN FOR 1914.

To the Board of Trustees of the Concord Public Library:

GENTLEMEN: When on December 31 a librarian annually adds up the daily records of desk circulation to learn how many books have been given out, it is largely an instinctive or preliminary proceeding—like taking the pulse, to see how much life there is. By this test our Library is found not to have lost ground in 1914, as 88,807 volumes were taken away by borrowers, and that is 1,000 more than in 1913. Evidently the Library's arteries have not hardened enough to warrant great anxiety.

Its veins, however, may be thought to run with sugared water instead of with beef, iron and wine, when the percentages of reading are declared and that of fiction stands at over seventy per cent.

During twenty years we have tried in a way meant to be unassuming and which has certainly proved unavailing, to bring about a noticeable decrease in this extreme partiality for fiction; and to that end we have interposed no red-tape between non-fiction and would-be readers of it, and on countless occasions we have charged the desired worthy book to the name and address of the borrower who had neglected to bring his Library card as requested by our rules.

How do librarians manage it, so as to report that they have reduced fiction reading to sixty per cent.? We cannot! There is one influence which may lead people to give up novels, but it will be by causing them to give up all reading: The "movies" may make the printed page irksome, even in a love story, to the millions who see one picture embody the vital part of a chapter in a book.

But so long as our statistics continue to prove that customers ask for 7 stories out of every 10 books called for, two palliating facts can be borne in mind: First, a great number of these stories are classical reading required of pupils in order that they shall write book reviews, and second (a fact which every year emphasizes), namely, that though the bizarre and erotic in print may draw public attention, they do not hold it; while on the other hand the demand for wholesome and cheery books is constant. Those bold, bad novels flatteringly described as "strong" are not wanted as steadily as is that on whose flyleaf we find scrawled, "This is a sweet book."

Our reference work has prospered as never before, for Miss Brown reports 66 applicants in one day, 800 in one month, 6,500 in the year. This department of our Library is frequently requested to help residents of other towns, and we do so at a nominal charge. On a recent day persons from Woodsville, Suncook, Pittsfield and Contoocook came in for information to assist them in writing papers.

Over the boxes which go periodically to our four deposit stations, Miss Clarke continues to exercise her excellent supervision.

Though we have bought 1,000 books the past year, the total number in the Library is now only 28,387, whereas in 1913 it was 32,025. This deficit leads to the subject of the inventory which was taken during the summer under the direction of Miss Dennett. While inventorying, we daily came across books which were indisputably past their usefulness, either for instruction, recreation or inspiration. These we discarded. Their removal seemed the only way, and a justifiable one, of stretching the capacity of our crowded building. The shelf-room thus gained is already almost filled by new publications of which the Library stood in want. For one thing we purchased Emerson's Journals because it seemed that these ten volumes should be publicly accessible; and it is gratifying to note that Edwin D. Mead, speaking of the present need of testing things religious and political, recommends an aid in investigation between true and false philosophy and advises: "If ever there was a time when all men should be reading Emerson anew, that time is now."

If the pendulum of public taste swings back and individuals and clubs revert to the study of art and literature, we shall have retained ample material on subjects formerly dear to the common heart. Nowadays, interest turns to sociology, suffrage, American travel, modern drama, international relations and preparedness.

The war has affected library conditions as well as all others, for it interrupted the international book exhibit at Leipzig, it has destroyed a library like that at the University of Louvain; and it has caused library workers in mobilized though not fighting countries to establish reading rooms and travelling libraries for the soldiers who are quartered in villages and farms; while already on the program of a library conference in the United States has appeared the topic:

“Some probable effects of the European War relating to Library Work.” The nations are being thrown into the melting pot, and if, as is further said, there is to emerge the Great Society and a new World Spirit (all with capitals), surely public libraries will have to readjust and repropotion their material. Not only will geographies and histories have to be rewritten, but a general book like, “A Day in Old Athens” may be supplanted by one which will bear the title, “A Day in Old Brussels.”

The employment of Miss Elizabeth Fowler, trained in the library department of Simmons College, as an assistant on half time, has brought great relief in the pressure of work. We can now arrange that all of our staff shall not return every evening to the Library; and the four of us who were feeling over-taxed, now have confidence that our strength will be equal to the day's demands, and we are able to put more buoyancy and geniality into our dealings.

The annoying conduct of gangs of boys and girls in the Library on Sunday afternoons has necessitated the almost weekly engagement of a man to enforce quiet. These roughs are a reminder that a public library cannot get a real hold, much as it would like to, upon either extreme in society. At one end is a person who loves a book so much that in order to own it he will, like Beecher, "sleep on a hard bed, eat coarse food, wear threadbare clothes, refrain from social delights and watch eagerly the slow savings until the price is reached." Bibliophiles like him, unattracted by the atmosphere of a public library, build up one of their own. Neither do we deal with their opposite, for of course the illiterate do not seek our doors. It was not one of our customers who wondered what to give a mate as a Christmas present and to the suggestion, "Give her a book," replied meditatively, "No, she's got a book."

But between the book-worm and the chorus girl are ranged the thousands upon thousands whom a public library enrolls as its appreciative and courteous users. This generation may be, as E. S. Martin says, "a lunch-counter one, so that in reading we take what we can get, where we can find it, and hurry on"; yet that even a chance nibble of the mind may have a far-reaching effect would be urged by a national civic worker who writes: "I have come into close touch with a large number of the vital men who are creating the new America, and in those quiet conversations which occur at the home fireside or in the smoker of the Pullman when men open up their inner hearts, I have found that nearly every one of them traced his first inspiration, or the acquisition of a new point of view which has determined the direction of his whole life, to some book. Occasionally it is a man or woman, but more often it is a book."

Respectfully submitted,

GRACE BLANCHARD,

Librarian.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

BOARD OF HEALTH REPORT.

To the Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN: The report of the Board of Health for the year ending December 31, 1914, is respectfully submitted.

The organization was as follows:—Mayor Charles J. French, ex-officio, Chairman; Dr. Charles H. Cook, City Physician, secretary, and Dr. Fred A. Sprague, member. Mr. Charles E. Palmer was sanitary officer and Dr. Charles Duncan was continued in the office of milk inspector.

There were fewer cases of contagious diseases reported during the year than for any like period since 1892.

Not many matters other than those of a routine nature have been presented for consideration at our monthly meetings.

The report of the sanitary officer is transmitted herewith and contains the usual valuable statistical data together with details of the departmental activities.

The milk inspector's report is likewise transmitted. We note with interest his suggestion that the Board of Health devise some plan for ridding our dairy herds of tuberculosis. This Board believes that if a workable plan could be devised for eradicating tuberculosis from the dairy herds of our city many cases of tuberculosis could be avoided. This board therefore recommends that the incoming board coöperate with Doctor Duncan in an effort to devise a plan to accomplish this purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES J. FRENCH, Mayor,

CHAS. H. COOK, M. D.,

FRED A. SPRAGUE, M. D.,

Board of Health.

REPORT OF THE MILK INSPECTOR.

To the Board of Health:

GENTLEMEN: The department report tables show the number and result of analysis of milk for the year 1914. They also show the number of farms and milk stations visited and the findings of the inspector.

The milk supply of the city has warranted but few complaints during the year and the analyses have been well within the law. Complaints have been made as to taste and a few because of ropy milk. Undesirable taste in milk is due in great part to feed and is easily corrected. In fact, it is generally corrected by the farmer before the complaint of the inspector reaches him. Ropy milk, as has been previously stated in reports, is due to bacteria (bacillus viscosus) and its removal from equipment by more careful sterilization readily corrects the condition.

During the year there has been an unusual number of changes in ownership of the retail routes in the city. These constant changes are to be regretted, as it minimizes the value of personal instruction. It is a telling argument to demonstrate the fact that the raising and delivery of milk is not a profitable business for the average farmer and the reason for this is not far to seek.

The average milk man passes the farms of several of his competitors in reaching the city where in the course of delivery of his product within the wide city limits he passes dozens in a like pursuit. This all means expense and that work is being done by many with great loss of time and labor on the farms that should be done by the few.

The future will correct this when an enlightened public demands a much better milk at a low price. This means a central milk station where milk may be assembled and delivered with the least possible amount of labor and expense. Our city has already one milk station capable of handling what would amount to ten or twelve of one average retailer's supply. This plant has a large pasteurization apparatus and has great future possibilities.

The greatest problem by far of any in our milk situation is the tuberculosis one. Fully twenty per cent. of tuberculosis in children, some authorities say, is caused by tubercular germs in milk. There is now no systematic government procedure to keep the cattle of either our city or state free from tuberculosis. Findings repeatedly show us that the disease in cattle is very prevalent. I have mentioned this in previous reports, but again would advise that some action be taken to compel all herds in our city to be tuberculin-tested. Until this is done no milk is a safe milk for either man or child, and until it is brought about I would advise all our citizens to patronize the men who have the tubercular-free herd, determined to be so by yearly inspection and tests.

The inspector has met during the year with the local milk men's organization and has imparted to them all the views here expressed. I believe there is a fine spirit of co-operation among the men in this business in our city and much more could be done along the line of freeing the city from tubercular cattle if only some plan could be devised by the Board of Health.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES DUNCAN,

Inspector.

REPORT OF THE SANITARY OFFICER.

To the Board of Health:

GENTLEMEN: I herewith present my report as sanitary officer for the year ending December 31, 1914, and your attention is respectfully called to the tables which give a detailed account of the work.

I desire to call particular attention to the marked decrease in the number of cases of contagious diseases. There were 74 cases reported with two deaths, the smallest number for any one year since 1892. Aside from an outbreak of diphtheria and scarlet fever at the Millville Orphans' Home early in the summer there were no epidemics. Reports were made of 30 cases of diphtheria, 28 cases of scarlet fever, 7 cases of typhoid fever with 2 deaths, 3 cases of infantile paralysis and 6 cases of measles.

There were 237 deaths in the nine wards of the city and 235 deaths in the six public institutions, making a total of 472 deaths, compared with 519 deaths in 1913. Of this number 168 were non-residents and 16 were stillbirths and excluding these from the total number of deaths our death rate was 13.26. The death rate for the first six months of the year was based on the census population of 1910, which was 21,497, and for the last six months on the estimated population of 22,000. There were 123 bodies brought here from out of town for burial and 193 transit permits were issued for the removal of bodies from Concord to other places for interment.

All complaints which were made to the office were investigated and the necessary action taken to abate the nuisances. In the spring inspections were made of many of the yards and alleyways about town and all objectionable rubbish was ordered removed.

Samples of city water were analyzed at the State Laboratory from time to time and found satisfactory. I have made several collections of samples of water running through lead pipe which were analyzed to determine the presence of lead, and in two or three instances the lead pipe was removed from buildings. A number of inspections were made of the shores of Long Pond at different seasons of the year.

There were 122 plumbing permits issued and water tests were made of all new work and peppermint tests of old work when necessary.

As in former years inspections were made of the barber shops in the city and conditions were found to be good and the barbers willingly complying with the law.

Very little trouble was experienced in enforcing the vaccination law and in only a few instances was it necessary to exclude children from school for failure to comply with the regulations.

I am pleased to report a small balance left of our original appropriation which was due to the fact that little assistance was given to families by reason of quarantine, aside from the diphtheria antitoxin. All Board of Health cases were cared for at the Foster Ward, Margaret Pillsbury General Hospital, under the general appropriation. The total expenses for the Health Department for the year were $2,757.74, the balance being $42.26. The receipts for the year were $201.84, including milk license fees and the sale of diphtheria antitoxin and fumigation supplies.

In closing, I wish to thank the Mayor and the other members of the Board of Health, the members of the City Government and the various city officials for their assistance during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES E. PALMER,

Sanitary Officer.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

REPORT OF CHIEF ENGINEER.

To the Board of Aldermen:

In accordance with the requirements of the city ordinance, I herewith submit for your consideration the report of the Fire Department for the year 1914.

The department responded to 43 bell alarms and 266 still alarms.

In addition, four fires occurred, entailing loss, for which no alarms were given, making a total of 313 for the year, a decrease of 17 compared with the record of the previous year.

	Bell.	Still.	No alarm.	Total.
Precinct,	21	211	1	233
Penacook,	13	36		49
East Concord,	6	10		16
West Concord,	3	9	3	15
	43	266	4	313

This report will be found to contain statements in detail embracing the amount of expenditures, a complete roll of the department with residence and occupation of each member, a record of all fires and alarms which have occurred during the year and the causes thereof as nearly as could be ascertained, with the names of the owners or occupants and the value, loss, insurance, and insurance recovered in each case.

The record of alarms compared with that of 1913 shows a decrease of 55 in bell alarms and an increase of 35 in still alarms.

It will be seen that Penacook with 49 alarms suffered no loss whatever. A most agreeable record, but not one likely to often occur.

Such was not the case in West Concord, however, where several sets of buildings were destroyed, being located far from protection against fire. But one dangerous fire occurred in the city proper, that of July 27th.

Although many firemen have been severely injured while in the performance of duty, this fire was the first in the history of the department where the life of a fireman was part of the toll exacted. In the tragic death of Amos P. Turner, the department lost a good fireman, a genial companion and an expert reins-man.

The apparatus is in good condition, the three steam fire engines located in the city proper having been thoroughly tested and repaired. The engine at Penacook, being a recent acquisition, needed no attention.

The Robinson auto-combination placed in commission December, 1913, has fully met expectations and the White auto-combination, purchased in October, 1914, is performing well. The fire alarm telegraph systems of the city proper and Penacook are in good condition. One private box was added to the precinct system and two public boxes to the Penacook system.

Eight hundred feet of $2\frac{1}{2}$ in. hose was purchased during the year and I respectfully recommend the purchase of the same amount during the coming year.

So many comparative tables have been submitted and so many arguments have been advanced all tending to prove the indisputable advantages possessed by motor-driven over horse-drawn apparatus that further effort in that line would seem superfluous. I respectfully recommend the motorizing of the apparatus in this department as fast as your honorable body can see the way clear to do it.

As Inspector of Wires, I would report that the lines of all corporations doing business in the city are in good condition. The relations existing between the electric light, telephone, electric car and fire alarm people are of the most pleasant character, the aim of each being to help the others in every way whenever aid is required. In this way the lines of all are kept in a safe and efficient condition.

As Inspector of Buildings I would report that several fire escapes have been applied to buildings during the year.

Building operations within the precinct were confined to the erection of one apartment building. Suggestions offered were cheerfully accepted and acted upon.

Conditions in basements and on fire escapes in numerous cases were remedied.

One heavy item of expense borne by the department was that resulting from the epidemic among horses which visited the city in October and continued until February of the present year. Fortunately but one horse was lost and as the department owned one spare horse the purchase of another was not compulsory. The veterinary and horse hire bills however were distinctly noticeable.

During the month of October, I had the pleasure of attending the convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers held at New Orleans, La., a report of which I rendered at that time. I wish again to take occasion to thank your honorable body for the opportunity afforded me to attend.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. GREEN,
Chief Engineer.

THE FIRE-ALARM TELEGRAPH

is the "Gamewell" patent. It embraces 42 miles of wire.

On the lines are 46 fire-alarm boxes belonging to the city, and 10 private boxes—in all, 56. There are three alarm bells, one of 3,724 pounds (bell metal), one of 3,740 pounds (bell metal), and one of 2,000 pounds (American steel). There are also 16 mechanical tappers, 40 direct action tappers, one four-circuit repeater, and six indicators.

The battery consists of 252 storage battery cells.

The alarm system was installed in 1880 by the Gamewell Fire-alarm Telegraph Company.

DIRECTIONS FOR GIVING AN ALARM.

Above all things, keep cool.

To obtain the key to the box, break the glass in the key box located beneath the alarm box.

In each box there is a small bell called a "tell-tale," designed expressly for the purpose of informing you whether an alarm is being transmitted the instant you open the door.

Open the box, and if this bell is not heard, pull down the hook once only and let go.

But if the bell should be heard, it would indicate that another box had been pulled, and it would be useless to attempt to pull another until the one already pulled had performed its mission.

Wait until 20 seconds have elapsed after the "tell-tale" has stopped ringing, close the door, which will restore the armature to the position it left when the door was opened.

Open the door, pull down the hook once only and let go. Should there be no response, pull it again.

Then should there be no response, go to the next box.

Unless your presence is most urgently required at the scene of the fire, remain at the box to direct the department.

Never open the box or touch anything pertaining to it except in case of fire.

Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.

Be reasonably sure that there is a fire before giving an alarm.

Never give an alarm for a chimney fire unless there is imminent danger of the building catching.

SUGGESTIONS TO STOREKEEPERS AND OTHERS.

Five hundred and seventy-seven doors were found open in the night time during the year, and were secured and the proprietors notified. The carelessness of people in securing their doors and windows is remarkable. There can be no estimate of the value of property saved by the police through their vigilance in detecting unlocked doors and windows, and their promptness in notifying the owners is commendable. In every case of this character larcenies might have occurred for which the police would have had to bear a responsibility which rightly belonged to others. In connection with this subject, I recommend that the public exercise more care in securing their doors and windows on the ground floors and those which may be reached by means of piazzas and balconies.

CONCLUSION.

I desire to extend my sincere thanks to His Honor the Mayor and to the members of your Honorable Board for the courteous treatment and cordial support I have received at your hands in discharging the duties of the office. I also extend my heartfelt thanks to Judge Clark, City Solicitor Murchie, Clerk Curtis and all others who have assisted during the year. To the members of the police department, I have only words of praise for the manner in which they have performed their duties.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. A. S. KIMBALL,
City Marshal.

REPORT OF CITY ENGINEER.

CITY ENGINEER'S OFFICE, CITY HALL,
CONCORD, N. H., December 31, 1914.

To the Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

The twenty-second annual report of the engineering department is herewith submitted, in compliance with the ordinance creating this department.

The expenses of the department for the year 1914 were as follows:

Paid engineer and assistants,	$3,266.80
car fares and livery,	123.37
express,	4.25
supplies,	118.68
telephone service,	23.10
repairs,	11.85
services and supplies, Assessors Maps,	857.65
postage,	2.51
convention expenses,	23.00
	<hr/>
	$4,431.21
Appropriation,	$4,575.00
Expended,	4,431.21
	<hr/>
Balance unexpended,	$143.79

A special appropriation for the purchase of a transit for this department, amounting to $250.00 was made, the instrument purchased for $245.25 leaving a balance of $4.75.

SEWERS.

The expenditures for construction, repairs and maintenance, together with the recommendations relating to needed changes in the city precinct, also a statement of the condition of the principal bridges in the city, will be found in the reports to the Board of Public Works covering the work done under its supervision.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Plans of the city proper and the Penacook district, covered by fire-alarm and hydrant service, have been made, showing the location of hydrants and fire-alarm boxes, and turned over to the chief of the fire department.

BUILDING PERMITS.

In company with the chief of the fire department, I have attended thirty-eight hearings on petitions for new buildings or alterations to existing structures.

All petitions were granted. We also examined one building, occupied as a tenement, which was thought unsafe for occupancy, but minor repairs were all that was necessary to make the building safe.

CEMETERIES.

The addition to the Soucook Cemetery was laid out in lots the past season.

A new block was staked out and rough-graded in Blossom Hill Cemetery. This will give two new blocks for lotting the coming spring and give purchasers of lots in this cemetery a better choice for location and price than has been the case for the past season.

I would again renew my recommendation that some provision for the care of the brook in the northwesterly section of this cemetery be soon made, that new blocks may be systematically and economically laid out in this portion of Blossom Hill Cemetery.

The deed books of Blossom Hill Cemetery have been brought up to date covering the sale of lots during the past year.

PLAYGROUNDS.

Plans for a shelter for Kimball playground were made, the masonry and roof supports put in, but the structure was not completed as there was a lack of funds for the entire work.

A lawn tennis court was staked out at the Rollins Park playground, grades, etc., given for its construction and provision made for further extensions when needed. A ball field was laid out here and also at White Park.

TOWN LINES.

Together with the selectmen of Hopkinton and Bow, the lines between Concord and these two towns were perambulated, the marks renewed and all monuments described in former perambulations found.

Descriptions of the lines showing the locations of the various monuments marking it were made and after being signed by the perambulators were deposited with the city clerk.

ASSESSORS' MAPS.

The northerly and easterly portions of the township were covered during the past season, but much detail remains to be filled in. With a good season we should complete the field work the coming summer and be able next winter to give the assessors complete maps of the whole township.

We are still finding property heretofore unknown and many pieces could not be located without the aid of maps.

There was expended from the $1,000.00 appropriation for this work, the sum of $857.65, in 1914.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Meetings of your board and the board of public works have been attended when information has been requested from this department.

The work of the board of examiners of plumbers and the board of hydrant commissioners has been placed before you in their respective reports to this board.

The employees of this department during the past season were: Fred W. Lang, principal assistant; Orion H. Hardy, transitman; Daniel S. Dinsmore, in charge of field work assessors' maps; George W. Burke, William E. Nash, Harold H. Betton and James E. Stevens, rodmen, all of whom rendered efficient service in their respective positions.

The annual session of the American Society of Municipal Improvements was held in Boston, Mass., and was the first visit of the society to New England. Its sessions were filled with valuable papers and discussions of the same by men well qualified to talk on municipal matters; they were a source of profit to all who attended them.

The city of Boston was carrying on work in almost every line one could desire to see and the Boston men were only too ready to show any and all members public works in which they were particularly interested.

To the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen, I wish to express my appreciation for the privilege of attending the above-mentioned meetings and also to express to you my full appreciation for the interest taken and the hearty support given this department during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

WILL B. HOWE,
City Engineer.

The only features added to the parks the past year have been, 352 feet of iron fence on White Street at White's Park, a shelter and renewal of rustic bridge at Rollins' Park.

An appropriation for $200.00 was made for improvements on the ball ground at White's Park. It was not all used and the balance of $41.05 remained unexpended at the close of the year.

The expense of removing gypsy moths is increasing each year.

A continuance of the fence on Centre Street should be made and more swings and amusements for the children provided which they do not have now on account of the lack of funds to install same.

The Pageant of Incidents of Concord History was given at White's Park, Tuesday, June 9th, and was greatly enjoyed by everyone present.

A new buck deer was caught near Garvins' Falls by the fish and game officials and placed in Rollins' Park.

REPORT OF BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS.

To His Honor the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen:

The Board of Water Commissioners transmits herewith the reports of the superintendent and the engineer of the pumping station, exhibiting in detail the operations of this department for the year ending December 31, 1914, which are made a part of this report.

The past year has been an unusually busy one for the employees of the department.

The 8-inch cement-lined pipe installed in 1887 to supply St. Paul's School and adjacent territory has been replaced with 12-inch cast-iron pipe involving an expenditure of $16,778.00.

On the night of August 21, the six-way hydrant in front of Central Block on No. Main Street was forced by the pressure from its connection with the high service main. The flow of water from a 10-inch pipe under 88 lbs. pressure quickly undermined the concrete sidewalk, a portion of the foundation of the block, flooded the basements and damaged a considerable quantity of merchandise stored therein. Only the prompt response of the department employees in shutting off the water prevented much more serious consequences. The Board has adjusted all the claims for damages to the satisfaction of the claimants.

The accident was unprecedented; the superintendent has adopted measures to prevent a recurrence by tying each six-way hydrant with $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch iron rods to a yoke attached to the nearest bell joint.

The unusual amount of extension work has made it impracticable to carry out the policy of tree planting on the land acquired by the city, but it is hoped that that work will be resumed the coming year.

In addition to the redemption of the annual instalment of $10,000, 49 water loan bonds due January 1, 1914, it has been possible to anticipate the payment of an equal amount due at later dates, thus materially reducing the annual interest charge.

During the summer of 1914, the Board authorized an inspection of our system by a sanitary engineer.

Under date of July 13, 1914, Mr. George C. Whipple, the engineer selected to make the inspection, submitted his report. This report with preliminary comments by the Board under date of July 22, 1914, was printed in pamphlet form and distributed to the public.

In view of the importance of the subject treated by Professor Whipple, the value of the statistics embodied in the comments of the Board and the desirability of preserving them in permanent form, we reproduce the pamphlet referred to.

At the suggestion and on the recommendation of Professor Whipple, a subsequent investigation was made by Prof. John W. M. Bunker, covering certain features which were not considered in the examination conducted by Professor Whipple.

Professor Bunker submitted a report of his investigation which the Board considers should be preserved in permanent form supplementing as it does the very satisfactory report of Professor Whipple.

While Professor Bunker's report contains many technical terms which may not be intelligible to the public generally, his conclusions cannot fail to be understood and appreciated by all.

REPORT ON THE WATER SUPPLY OF CONCORD.

BY GEORGE C. WHIPPLE, CONSULTING ENGINEER, NEW YORK CITY.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS,
CONCORD, N. H., July 22, 1914.

To the Patrons of the Concord Water-Works and the Citizens of Concord:

It has been the aim of the Board of Water Commissioners to supply the patrons of the system with an abundance of pure water and to make the service satisfactory.

In our efforts we have had the assistance, coöperation and approval of our local and state boards of health (especially the latter), and to them the board desires to express its appreciation.

From time to time the board has discussed the desirability of employing some sanitary engineer of more than local reputation whose experience in the matter of public water supplies would entitle his views to respectful consideration, to carefully inspect our system and report his conclusions.

At a recent meeting of the board the employment of such an expert was authorized, and the president and superintendent were instructed to secure the services of a competent sanitary engineer to make such inspection.

Under these instructions, Mr. George C. Whipple, Gordon McKay Professor of Sanitary Engineering of Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was employed. Professor Whipple is a member of the firm of Hazen & Whipple, sanitary engineers of New York City. Each member of the firm has published several volumes on water supplies and allied subjects. Each member has a national reputation and is recognized as an authority on the subject.

Professor Whipple was requested to make a thorough, systematic and comprehensive investigation of our system and report to the board his conclusions and to make such suggestions for its improvement as he deemed advisable.

Most, if not all of his suggestions under the latter clause had received the careful consideration of the board, and steps have been taken to correct the conditions referred to.

Since 1893, the board has acquired twenty-six parcels of real estate on the shores of the lake at an aggregate cost of $47,872.41.

The city now owns 365.47 acres, comprising more than 80 per cent. of the shore line.

The state (State Hospital) owns about 10 per cent., leaving a little less than 10 per cent. of shore line controlled by nine individual owners. No part of the city's holdings is used for pasturage, and all will eventually be covered by forest growth.

In addition to the natural growth of hard and soft woods, the board, during the past five years, has set out 150,000 seedling pines.

The report of Professor Whipple is presented herewith for the information of our citizens, with the recommendation that it be studied carefully.

It is our confident belief that a critical perusal of the report will convince all fair-minded people that Mr. Whipple is justified in his general conclusions, that the water of Penacook Lake can be used for all domestic purposes with perfect safety.

REPORT ON THE WATER SUPPLY OF CONCORD.

BY GEORGE C. WHIPPLE.

July 13, 1914.

Mr. Percy R. Sanders, Superintendent of the Water-Works, Concord, N. H.,

DEAR SIR: In accordance with the request of the President of the Water Commissioners, I have made a careful sanitary inspection of the water supply of your city, and I hereby present my report.

In preparation for the investigation I have examined the Annual Reports of the Water Department, the reports of the Concord Health Department, and the analyses that have been made from time to time in the laboratory of the State Board of Health. I have also read certain reports on the quality of the water made by Dr. Charles D. Howard, the chemist of the State Board of Health.

In the forenoon of Friday, June 26, I made an inspection of the catchment area in company with you and Doctor Howard. On this trip samples of water were collected and tested for the presence of algæ, etc. I also visited the high service reservoir and the pumping station. In the afternoon of the same day an inspection of the reservoir was made, using a launch.

As a result of these investigations it is my opinion that the city of Concord has an excellent water supply. It is safe and sanitary and there is no reason why it should not be used for drinking and for all domestic purposes. It is unnecessary to boil it, and it is unnecessary for the citizens of Concord to purchase spring water from fear that the water drawn from the taps is not safe.

The Board of Health records of the city show no indication that the water has been the cause of typhoid fever or diseases which may be spread through the agency of a public water supply. The water is attractive in appearance, almost odorless, clear and nearly colorless. It is soft and palatable.

The odor of the water is the only physical quality which seems likely to be occasionally at fault. All New England lakes and reservoirs are affected occasionally with growths of microscopic organisms. Some of these produce unpleasant tastes and odors. There is no question but that such growths of organisms occur in Penacook Lake and they will doubtless occur in the future. Unpleasant as they may be, there is no reason to believe that the odors or the microscopic plants which cause them are deleterious to health. They should not occasion alarm as they do not indicate infection of the water. At the present time the water has no odor due to this cause.

Having made this general statement, I will now discuss some of the conditions in detail and call attention to certain matters which, in my judgment, should be attended to.

THE CLEANLINESS OF THE CATCHMENT AREA.

When surface waters are used without purification, they should be collected from a catchment area that is reasonably clean and free from pollution by fecal matter. The records of the Water Department state that the catchment area of Penacook Lake is about three square miles. The area of the lake is about 338 acres, and to this should be added about 30 acres which represents the area of Forge Pond, now practically a part of the lake. Forge Pond has a catchment area of about 200 acres. The lake has a total length of approximately two miles. The catchment area comprises woodland and farmland. On the west side of the lake a highway extends from the lower end of Forge Pond to the extreme upper end of the lake. Its distance from the lake shore varies from 500 to 2,000 feet except at the two ends of the lake where it approaches closely to the shore. A part of the catchment area of the east side of the lake is also traversed by a highway, but this is at a considerable distance from the lake.

There are on the catchment area somewhat over a dozen dwelling houses occupied permanently throughout the year. All of these were visited by us. The premises were examined and information obtained as to the number of persons and farm animals at each place. As a result of this hastily made census it was found that the permanent population of the catchment area is about 75 persons, or something less than 25 persons per square mile. During the summer this population is increased by an indefinite number of persons who temporarily occupy the cottages along the shore of the lake. It seems probable that during short periods of the summer season the population of the catchment area may be considered as about 50 per square mile. There are about 100 cows and between 30 and 40 horses kept at the various farms. At Sunnyside there is a poultry yard where about 700 hens are said to be kept. There seems to be nothing abnormal for a farming region on this catchment area, if we except the cottages which are located near the lake shore.

There are no artificial sewerage disposal systems on the watershed. The sanitary conveniences at the different houses include privies and cesspools. Most of these are satisfactorily located with respect to the lake. The soil of the watershed is generally porous and well adapted to the reception and natural purification of the liquids from the cesspools. The largest cesspools are those at the State Farm, but they are located several hundred feet from the lake in sandy soil and there is not the slightest reason to believe that any of the contents reach the waters of the lake by percolation. There are one or two cases where there is an opportunity for surface water to carry household wastes into the lake at times of rain, but these are matters that can easily be corrected and have all been brought to your attention. The chief danger from cesspools, however, is not while they are in use but at the time when they are being cleaned. In some cases we were informed that it was the practice to dispose of the contents on the surface of the ground, but in a number of instances the practice is to bury the fecal matter in the ground, covering it with earth. This is the proper method and should be insisted upon, whether the privy be located near the lake or at a considerable distance from the lake. The object of this is to avoid accidental contamination of the water.

While it is true that animal manure does not cause typhoid fever, yet this substance should be kept out of public water supplies. Obviously, it is impossible to eliminate all animal manure from catchment areas which include farms and farm lands. Cows, sheep, and other animals require water and it is but natural that they seek it in streams and ponds. In this way all surface waters become more or less contaminated. Even streams which drain nothing but forest lands may become contaminated from the manure of birds, squirrels and other warm-blooded animals. These sources of contamination are relatively unimportant from a hygienic point of view when compared with pollution by human fecal matter. In the case of the water supply of Concord, the water is subjected to long storage before it flows to the city, which causes the danger of even the animal contamination to be reduced to a minimum. The use of manure on plowed fields is a natural use of the land. The washings of fields thus manured are bound to enter the lake at certain times of the year. While this is a source of contamination that cannot be wholly eliminated, it should be reduced when possible. Often this may be accomplished by friendly arrangements with the landowners. Some of the fields of the State Farm are located near the lake and it is said that during the past season this land was heavily manured with the result that the washings entered the lake. This condition might and should be prevented. When manure is applied to land on watersheds ridges at the bottoms of the hills should be constructed to retard the surface flow, and cause more of the water to soak into the ground before reaching the lake. This would benefit the farmer as well as the water supply. The poultry farm maintained by the state is another possible source of contamination by animal manure. While these are matters that should be attended to, I do not regard them in the present instance as being serious. The analyses of the Concord water made by the State Board of Health do not indicate any marked contamination from this source.

For the most part, swamps are conspicuously absent on the catchment area and accordingly the color of the water is very low. There is, however, a small swamp at the upper end of the lake which, in my judgment, should be drained. At the present time it forms a breeding place for microscopic organisms.

The summer cottages along the shore deserve special consideration. Here, if anywhere, the waters of the lake are in danger of contamination by human fecal matter. Many of the cottages have been already purchased by the city. This general policy of the Concord Water Board is one which I approve. The city should control the entire shore line of the lake in order to prevent the sources of contamination from being located too near the water. This does not necessarily mean that it is necessary for the city to actually own all of the land along the shore. Doubtless arrangements can be made by which the owners of land will take adequate precautions against contamination. The wisdom of purchasing any given piece of property must depend largely upon the price for which it can be purchased. The present situation does not warrant the paying of excessive prices for the mere sake of holding title to the shore line.

I have inspected the premises at the St. Paul's School boat-houses, and find the sanitary arrangements to be satisfactory. The water used in the shower baths does not enter the lake, but is discharged into the ground. It is my judgment that the use of the lake for boating carried on under proper restrictions is not deleterious to the hygienic quality of the water supply of Concord.

SUMMER VERSUS WINTER CONDITIONS.

It is a well-known fact that the typhoid fever bacillus does not multiply in water. If the germs of this disease get into the water they do not live many weeks, and very few of them live more than a few days. They are able to survive much longer in cold water than in warm water, and it is a fact that most typhoid fever epidemics which have been traced to water have occurred during the colder months of the year, and that water-borne typhoid fever is more common in northern than in southern latitudes. Surface waters are less likely to transmit intestinal diseases during the summer than during the winter. This tends to minimize the effect of temporary summer pollution on the watershed, the effect of summer cottages, and the effect of accidental contamination from persons who boat or fish on the lake or along the shores. Furthermore, sedimentation, the disinfecting influence of sunlight, and other destructive agencies combine to minimize the effect of contamination during warm weather.

THE TYPHOID FEVER RECORD OF CONCORD.

The typhoid fever record of Concord for many years has been exceptionally good. Data received from the local Board of Health and hereto appended have indicated that during the twelve years from 1902 to 1913, the largest number of deaths from this disease in any one year was four, while during two of these years there were no deaths from typhoid fever. The maximum typhoid fever deaths per 100,000 was 18.3, the average, 10.3, and the minimum 0. These records compare very favorably with those of cities supplied with filtered water or with well water. Even more significant than this low typhoid fever death-rate is the distribution of the typhoid fever cases during the year. The records show that most of the cases have occurred during the late summer and autumn, and that the number of cases of this disease occurring during the winter has been very small. Since water-borne typhoid fever occurs chiefly in cold weather this distribution would not have occurred if any considerable amount of this disease had been caused by the public water supply. To me, the figures mentioned are significant and indicate unmistakably that the water supply of the city has been safe.

OBJECTIONS TO SURFACE WATER.

It must be admitted that there are certain inherent objections to a water supply taken from the surface of the ground. One of these is the possibility of accidental contamination by the fecal matter of some person who happens to be sick with typhoid fever, or who is one of those unfortunate individuals, who, having had this disease, retain the germs of it in their system for long periods of time. Such persons are termed "typhoid fever carriers." It is said that in round numbers about one person out of every 40 or 50 who have had this disease remain carriers for a considerable period of time. Fortunately the number of typhoid fever carriers in the country at large is decreasing, for the reason that this disease is being gradually stamped out. It is partly because of the danger of this accidental contamination that sanitary engineers favor the filtration of surface waters. It is recognized, however, that storage is an important agency in protecting a water supply against accidental infection, and the long storage provided by Penacook Lake is in itself an important factor in the local problem.

Another objection to the use of surface waters is from the growth of microscopic organisms which takes place in waters stored in reservoirs and lakes. In respect to these growths great differences are noticed between different parts of the country, and sometimes between different lakes and reservoirs quite near together. The effect of these microscopic organisms, most of which belong to the vegetable kingdom, is to make the water slightly turbid and produce unpleasant tastes and odors of water at certain times of the year, chiefly in summer. Penacook Lake is not entirely free from such growths, and the water occasionally acquires a vegetable and woody, or it may be a fishy odor. At the time of my inspection the water contained only a few of these organisms and the odor which they produced was practically negligible. Algæ have been observed in the waters of the lake for many years. They were mentioned by Dr. T. M. Drown in the report which he made to the city in the year 1891. Apparently, they have been no more numerous in recent years than they were then. The growth of these organisms depends upon many different conditions which cannot be discussed at length in this brief report. One of the important factors, however, is the food supply which they demand. Manure is used to fertilize the land and contribute to the growth of the crops. When it is allowed to wash into the lake it tends to fertilize the lake and contribute to the growth of microscopic plants. This is one of the reasons why care should be taken to exclude surface wash from Penacook Lake.

STAGNATION.

In this latitude all lakes which are as deep as Penacook Lake undergo two periods of what is called "stagnation," one during the summer and one during the winter. At these times the water at the bottom does not mix with the waters above, and it usually becomes foul through the decomposition of organic matter. Following these periods of stagnation the foul water becomes mixed with the waters above and may give rise to noticeable odors. At such times also microscopic organisms are likely to develop and add to the odor. In all probability this condition occurs in Penacook Lake, but thus far it has not been studied.

Nothing can be done to prevent this, and it is mentioned here merely to explain why it is that during the spring and fall there is a slightly noticeable odor to the water.

CLEANLINESS OF THE DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM.

The water supply of Concord is taken from the lake at a point several hundred feet from the gate-house. It first passes through a brick conduit laid along the bottom of Forge Pond. It then passes through two sets of screens in the gate-house and flows to the city through cast-iron pipes. An inspection of the screens showed an accumulation of organisms of various kinds. On the screens were found leaves, small fish, frog spawn, fragments of water plants, fresh water sponge, and more or less miscellaneous debris. It is probable that the conduit at the bottom of the lake is not entirely clean and that growths of fresh water sponge are there present. This pipe moss, as it is sometimes called, is almost always present in conduits through which surface waters are flowing. The algæ, above mentioned, serve as food for these pipe organisms. Practically the only harm they do in the pipes is to occasionally make the water slightly dirty and turbid in some parts of the city where by reason of excessive draughts they become dislodged.

Samples taken by us from certain of the taps of the city showed that in most cases the water was exceptionally free from turbidity. A sample from the tap in the State Laboratory, however, contained a considerable amount of sediment, which was evidently derived from the pipes.

I have suggested to you that the screens of the gate-houses be cleaned daily during the summer season and that the pipes of the city be thoroughly flushed by taking certain streets, one at a time, and increasing the velocity of the water through the pipe so as to thoroughly clean out any accumulated dirt. A velocity of about 8 feet per second is needed for efficient flushing. To do the work properly will require several weeks. It should be done at night.

HIGH SERVICE RESERVOIR.

The water in the high service reservoir appeared to be free of algæ growth at the time of our inspection.

WATER ANALYSES.

I have examined with care the analyses of the Concord water which have been made by Doctor Howard in the laboratory of the State Department of Health. The methods used have conformed to standard methods.

The chemical analyses have been more complete than is necessary. It would be useful, however, to have microscopical examinations of the water made regularly by the Sedgwick-Rafter method and by the use of the cotton filter. It would also be useful to maintain records of the number of bacteria in the water and the approximate number of B. coli. At present these tests are made, but infrequently.

QUANTITY OF WATER AVAILABLE.

At the present time there are no records which adequately show the quantity of water that is being used by the city. It is thought, however, that this quantity is not far from 3,000,000 gallons per day. If this figure is correct, it seems probable that the limit of the capacity of the catchment area of Penacook Lake has been nearly reached, and that the most important problem of the near future will be to secure an additional supply of water. The level has been below high-water mark for a number of years. The chief reason for this probably has been the recent lack of rainfall, but doubtless an increased water consumption has been another reason.

In anticipation of the need of additional water, it seems to me that immediate steps should be taken to secure accurate records of the water now being used, and I recommend the installation of Venturi meters on the pipe lines leading to the city. The expense of these meters would not be large and the definite results obtained would be of great value to the city.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, I wish to express my thanks to the Mayor, and the members of the Water Board, the Secretary and Chemist of the State Board of Health, and yourself for affording me the ample opportunities for conducting the present inspection. And I wish to congratulate the citizens of Concord on having at hand such an excellent water supply as that of Penacook Lake.

Attached to this report will be found certain data in regard to the typhoid fever records of the city and some of the cotton discs which were used in the examination of samples of the sediment found in the water in different parts of the system.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) GEORGE C. WHIPPLE,
Consulting Engineer.

MEMORANDUM CONCERNING RESEARCH AT PENACOOK LAKE.

CONCORD, N. H., SEPTEMBER 21, 22, 1914.

On September 21, 1914, I went to Concord, N. H., with Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Barker, students in Sanitary Engineering at Harvard to make limnological investigations of the water in Penacook Lake.

We were met by Mr. Sanders, superintendent of the water-works, who was with us during most of the investigation.

The following determinations were made throughout the vertical at the deepest portion of the lake on two successive days.

- (1) Temperature.
- (2) Dissolved oxygen.
- (3) Carbon dioxide.
- (4) Quantitative test for microorganisms.
- (5) Cotton disc records at top, middle and bottom.

The work was greatly expedited by the use of the water-works launch operated by Mr. Richardson.

The apparatus used was as follows:

- From Harvard Sanitary Laboratory,
 - Thermophone and coil for temperature work.
 - Dissolved oxygen sampler.
 - Field laboratory.
 - Microscope and field outfit for algæ work.
 - Sounding line and lead.
- From city engineer, Concord,
 - Transit and rod.

SOUNDINGS.

The wide part of the lake just west of the gate house was selected as being that portion of the body of water on which to concentrate our efforts. On the afternoon of September 21 a hydrographic survey of this portion of the lake was run, soundings being taken along selected lines. The position of each reading was determined by the time between soundings and checked by transit angles from a shore station. These soundings were plotted on a map furnished by the city engineer, and ten-foot contours of the lake bottom run out. Five-foot contours were plotted by interpolation. The stage of the water was 180.3 and the contours are corrected to the same base and so designated on the blue prints. These contours are probably accurate in the main to .5 foot. The deepest sounding was 73 feet at this stage of the water and there is a small area of this depth at the region indicated. This reading was obtained several times and rechecked by cross line soundings. All determinations were made at a point over this deep hole.

TEMPERATURE.

The temperature of the water in Penacook Lake showed little decrease during the first twenty feet, with the exception of the warming of the surface layers from the sun's rays. The air temperature on September 21 was 89° in the shade. There was no wind on this or the succeeding day, the surface of the water being flat and glassy. Between twenty and twenty-five feet there was a drop in water temperature of 3° F. This drop increased greatly up to twenty-nine feet where the temperature was 15° lower than the surface. Between twenty-nine and thirty-one feet there was a region of more uniform temperature, and from this depth the water became gradually cooler until sixty feet was reached where the minimum reading was obtained of 43.1° F. This temperature was maintained to the bottom. These results are plotted on a blue print diagram.

The interpretation of these results shows that at some time of heavy wind the water of the lake was stirred to circulation to a depth of thirty feet. The average wind action however stirs it to a depth of only twenty or at most twenty-five feet. In this upper layer there is considerable circulation most of the time and the water contained in this layer is frequently brought in contact with the air. In this manner it acquires an even temperature throughout.

Below twenty-five feet is a period of non-circulation. Here the water remains more or less quietly and will so remain until the fall overturn.

MICROSCOPIC ORGANISMS.

Samples were examined for the presence of microorganisms at the surface, twenty, thirty, forty and seventy foot depth. A surprisingly small number of organisms was found. At the surface there was a growth of anabæna which from inspection seemed to have increased by the end of the second hot day. On September 21 there were however only 72 standard units of this form per cubic centimeter. It was visible as minute specks at the surface of the water, and under the microscope was shown to be tangled in clumps. This organism is subject to rapid increase and sudden death and decay. In the latter stage it sometimes imparts to the water a disagreeable odor, but probably never in such small quantities as this.

In addition to this form there was a sprinkling of protozoan forms and a few rotifers. The protozoa were in no case members of that class which thrive in polluted waters but rather of the group which I have come to regard as clean water organisms.

DISSOLVED OXYGEN.

The first twenty feet of water showed a dissolved oxygen content of between 90 and 100 per cent. saturation. From this point the per cent. of saturation gradually fell off until at a depth of sixty feet there was only 11 per cent. of the saturation amount for that temperature. This depletion of oxygen in the non-circulating depths is due to the oxidation of organic matter in decay. At no point was there any complete depletion of oxygen.

CARBON DIOXIDE.

Carbon dioxide is a product of oxidation either in respiration or in decay. As dissolved oxygen in water is used up it is expected that carbon dioxide will increase.

The carbon dioxide in Penacook lake is distributed in the normal manner. From 2 to 2.5 parts per million are found in the circulating surface waters of the first twenty feet, below which depth there is an increase corresponding to the decrease of dissolved oxygen. The maximum normal content at seventy feet was about 9 parts per million.

Certain determinations made at a slightly different point showed a peculiar variation in the CO_2 . For instance at the forty-foot depth a content of 10 parts per million was noted and checked, while at the sixty-foot depth at this point only 7.7 parts could be found. Minor fluctuations were noted also in the upper levels. Inasmuch as there were no concentrations of microorganisms at the layers indicated, it would seem that some other explanation for this phenomenon must be obtained. A possible explanation might be that ground water enters the lake at various points in so-called springs, and with its high CO_2 content seeks its proper temperature level, before spreading.

ODOR.

The water at the surface had a very faint vegetable odor that would hardly be detected by the ordinary observer.

Below the surface no odor was detected until the 70' level was reached. Inasmuch as the intake is at a depth of between fifteen and twenty feet the present city supply is odorless.

At the seventy-foot level a distinct odor of H_2S is present, the product of decomposing organic matter in all probability.

COTTON DISC RECORDS.

The cotton disc records had no apparent value in this case as the water is too clean to make any stain beyond a very slight darkening of the cotton. This record was therefore discarded as time was pressing.

CONCLUSIONS.

The physical and biological qualities of the water of Penacook lake were excellent at the time of examination, there being very little color, turbidity or odor.

At the time of this examination the condition of the water is practically the same for the first thirty feet, and is not likely to undergo any natural change until the time of the fall overturn.

The small number of organisms present would seem to indicate that the pond is at present not heavily seeded with their spores or that there is a deficiency of those substances which form their food supply.

The swampy pool west of the lake, across the road from St. Paul's School bathhouses is richly populated with various microorganisms, some of which are ciliate, protozoa. These latter forms indicate possible unclean water.

The lower layers are "stagnant" in that they are non-circulating at this season but cannot be regarded as "stagnant" as the word is popularly used, i. e. foul, unsightly or ill-smelling.

Penacook Lake is unusually free from organic matter. The condition of the sounding lead indicated a clean bottom. Samples of water from various depths down to 65 feet were generally clear and sparkling.

SERVICE PIPES.

There have been laid during the year and connected with the main pipes, 51 service pipes, consisting of

There have been discontinued, 6; total number of service pipes at the present time, 3,837; total length of service pipes, 89,579 feet, or 16.96 miles.

There have been relaid 20 services and 60 curbs have been placed on old services.

We have set 76 meters during the year; removed 1; total number now in use, 2,393.

The following table shows the height of water in Penacook Lake on the first day of the month:

January,	176.85	July,	181.10
February,	176.80	August,	180.65
March,	177.20	September,	180.80
April,	179.20	October,	179.90
May,	181.60	November,	179.40
June,	181.65	December,	178.95

The lowest point reached during the year was on February 28, being 176.65; the highest was on May 14 and was 181.95; mean height for the year was 179.55 which was .35 foot higher than the mean height for the year 1913.

All of the buildings under the control of this department are in good condition. The iron fence for the pumping station grounds which arrived too late in 1913 to erect that season has been set up and adds greatly to the appearance of the grounds. The pumping machinery is giving good service and shows evidence of the care bestowed upon it by the engineer.

All hydrants, public and private, have received the customary thorough inspection and care. Beginning with freezing weather in the fall and continuing through the winter until all danger of freezing is over the hydrants are inspected once a week and oftener if necessary.

The meter system continues to meet the approval of consumers; there are now nearly 2,400 meters in service and their care and maintenance occupy nearly the entire time of two men and a team.

The 8-inch cement-lined main laid in 1887 supplying Pleasant street west from Liberty and St. Paul's School has been replaced by a 12-inch cast-iron main. In Mill Road, so called, 750 feet of 8-inch pipe was laid in place of 6-inch; as this highway was discontinued several years ago, this expense was borne by St. Paul's School.

Five new hydrants were set on the Pleasant street line in locations determined by the Board of Hydrant Commissioners, and the St. Paul's School Corporation has been given four sprinkler connections and has set eleven private hydrants around the school buildings.

On August 21 occurred one of the worst leaks in the history of the department. At 10.15 p. m. notice was received of a bad leak on North Main street near Central Block. Upon arrival at the block the large six-way hydrant in front of the Postal Telegraph office was nowhere to be seen. As soon as we were able to shut off the water and pump out the cellars of the block, we found that the hydrant had been moved completely off from the 10-inch lateral connecting it to the 20-inch high service main. The pressure at this section is 88 lbs. per square inch and from the indicator record at the pumping station it is estimated that in the short time that the water was running over 500,000 gallons ran to waste. All damages to the blocks and the occupants arising from this break were satisfactorily settled.

There have been but two breaks on the cement-lined pipes in Penacook this season and with no greater signs of deterioration than this, the mains ought to give good service for a number of years yet.

Following is the report of Mr. Rowell, the engineer, giving the operations of the pumping engines in detail.

Respectfully submitted,

PERCY R. SANDERS,
Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE ENGINEER AT PUMPING STATION.

PUMPING STATION, CONCORD WATER WORKS.

P. R. Sanders, Superintendent:

SIR: I would report that the pumping machinery at the pumping station is in good working condition.

The boilers are in as good condition as can be expected for the years they have been in service, and will need but few repairs the coming year. The fire box will need building over on boiler No. 2.

Following is a statement of coal and other supplies, used at the pumping station during the year, with a table showing the work for each month.

STATEMENT.

126 tons 809 pounds of Pocahontas coal.
107 tons 1,427 pounds of New River coal.
18 tons 1,695 pounds of Bader coal.
129 gallons of valve oil.
9 gallons of engine oil.
42 pounds of waste.
12 pounds of grease.
6 cords of wood.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

To the Board of Aldermen:

The Board of Public Works has held forty-nine meetings during the year, nine of which were hearings held on the premises covered by the petitions considered. One hundred and four petitions were received and eighty-three petitions were granted.

A three-ton motor garbage truck was purchased for the highway department during the year.

The City of Concord and the Town of Pembroke, jointly, rebuilt the single span bridge over the Soucook River at Richardson's Mill. The contract was let to the Berlin Construction Company of Berlin, Conn., and a steel bridge was constructed.

The board ordered an examination of all the bridges and after a report, signed by W. B. Howe, city engineer, and John W. Storrs, was presented to the board December 17, bids were received for replacing the Pembroke Bridge with a steel structure: the contract has been awarded and the bridge will probably be completed about June 15, 1915.

For a detailed account of the work in the various departments under this board see attached reports of the superintendent of streets and the city engineer.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

To the Board of Public Works:

GENTLEMEN: The superintendent of streets herewith submits the annual report of the work of the highway department for the year ending December 31, 1914.

As usual, the year was a busy one for the department. A large amount of general repairing was necessary on the roads throughout the city which, taken with the permanent work to be done, required considerable planning to accomplish. The appropriation for general maintenance is insufficient to meet the demands made upon it. The amount of traffic is steadily increasing and, with the number of miles of street which we have, the ordinary repairs require a considerable amount of the appropriation. Some years the expense of caring for the ice and snow is quite heavy. The snow-storm of last February 14 and 15 cost the department $1,586.77, which was simply the breaking out of the roads and sidewalks and leveling off the snow. The following week a severe rainstorm made further expense, all of which was for work which did not show on the roads after the snow was gone.

The usual amount of concrete walks were repaired and, with one exception where the petitioner asked for further time, all new concrete walks granted by the board were laid. A number of gravel walks were also built. More work than usual was done on catch basins last season, a number of new ones being built and some rebuilt.

For permanent improvements in 1914, macadam was laid on South Street from Concord to Thorndike, South Main from Perley to Thorndike, North Main from Chapel to Pitman, a section of North State Street above the railroad crossing, Penacook Street from the railroad crossing east and Merrimack Street in Penacook. Washington Square in Penacook was macadamized and a portion of it concreted. Sections of the Pittsfield and Hopkinton road were gravelled and a portion of the Eddy road re-surfaced. In every place there was decided need of the improvement. A section of the South Pembroke road was re-constructed and the whole of it treated with tarvia, the state paying one-half of the expense. A section of the Penacook road past Maple Grove cemetery in West Concord was also re-constructed and the department received one half of the amount expended from the state.

There are any number of places in the city proper where permanent improvements are needed but I hope that next year the work may at least be continued on those streets where permanent improvements have already been begun. The section of North Main Street from Pitman to Centre on the east side should be macadamized which would complete the street to the pavement. The section from Park to Centre on the east side which is granite block paving should be concreted, as the paving is very rough. Another section of South Main Street and South Street should be macadamized and North State Street from Dolan Street to the railroad crossing completed. The Hopkinton road should be gravelled to the town line and the remainder of the Eddy road re-surfaced. South State Street from Pleasant south is in bad condition and ought to be permanently improved. Washington and North Spring Streets both receive a large amount of traffic and should be repaired.

Tarvia was used last season on the macadam streets with very satisfactory results and all of the macadam should have a tar surface treatment as early in the season as possible. The increase in the use of the automobile and especially of the heavy auto truck make it imperative that the surface of macadam roads be kept in as good condition as possible. Recently I attended an experience meeting of superintendents of streets and road builders from the cities around Boston and they gave some very interesting and helpful talks on their experience with bituminous macadam. It was especially gratifying to learn that the majority of those present had used tar products to considerable extent and were well satisfied with the results. Many of them recommend heavier binders in road construction as they find that the automobile chains are doing great damage to the roads. At the same meeting there was considerable discussion in regard to the digging up of streets that had just been repaired. Some advocated that wherever a street was to be permanently improved the owners of all sewer, gas and water pipes be required to lay them to the property line before work on the street was begun, even though the property were not developed. It certainly is becoming such a common occurrence to have a new street dug up within a short time after the work is completed that some regulations should be made to prevent it.

Again I would recommend that the city do something toward a systematic planting of trees. The number of dead trees removed each year is increasing and in some places new ones should be set out. Much of the beauty of the city is due to the large elms and other shade trees, most of them planted years ago by the residents. Last season a very large elm was taken down on North Main Street near the Walker place and another on North Main was blown down by a hurricane. It seemed best to remove several other large trees in the same vicinity. Apparently there are not as many brown-tail moths as in other years but a considerable increase is noticed in the number of gypsy moth nests. Late in the spring the office received many complaints that the trees were being badly eaten by brown-tail moths. On investigation we found that the trouble was due to the tent caterpillar and not the brown-tail moth. No doubt we shall find the same trouble the coming season.

The garbage precinct was extended during the past year and the amount of garbage to be collected is increasing. The auto truck purchased for collecting garbage has given much satisfaction and has proved to be a great convenience. A garage for the truck has been built on the city lot and we are able to house the steam roller in the same building. There is not sufficient room, however, to properly house the sprinklers and other equipment of the department and I hope the board will consider the matter of new sheds on the city lot.

The use of light oils for dust laying has proved satisfactory. On the dirt streets it does not give as good results as on the macadam but I would recommend its use another season.

The privilege of attending the American Road Builders convention at Chicago and various meetings of the Massachusetts Highway Association have been much appreciated. As the problems of practical road building and maintenance grow more perplexing, such meetings tend to keep one in touch with the work of other cities and it is encouraging to find that our difficulties are exactly the same as those found in other places. I greatly appreciate the interest of the board in the working out of the many problems which come to a department like this as it is their coöperation that is most needed by a superintendent.

Respectfully submitted,

ALFRED CLARK,
Superintendent of Streets.

REPORT OF THE SEWER DEPARTMENT.

CITY ENGINEER'S OFFICE, CITY HALL,
CONCORD, N. H., December 31, 1914.

To the Board of Public Works:

The fourth annual report to this Board, showing the expenditures for construction, repairs, flushing, tools and general maintenance of the several sewer precincts of the city, containing a statement of the funds available for the work, is herewith submitted, together with some suggestions as to the needs of the city precinct.

CITY PRECINCT.

The new main laid in South State Street, from South Main Street to Downing Street, will afford much needed relief to the district served by this line. This sewer was laid at a greater depth than the old one and will enable the dwellings at its southerly end to properly drain into it, which has been practically impossible with the old sewer. This sewer replaced a line of fifteen-inch pipe with twenty-four- and twenty-inch Akron pipe, laid in the old trench but deeper. The twenty-four-inch pipe extends from South Main Street to West Street and the twenty-inch pipe from West Street to Downing Street.

The sewers in Washington, Beacon and Rumford Streets are too small for the duty they are called upon to perform and should be relieved in the immediate future, as the complaints from this district are constantly increasing. Your Board are familiar with the claims for flooded premises and have seen the conditions existing in this portion of the city.

New sewers have been laid in Palm Street, Dartmouth Street, Kensington Road and extensions made in Prospect Street and Gladstone Street.

The work in Palm Street was the most expensive of this season's undertakings, as we had to practically grade the upper end of the street, at an expense of some $200.00, which amount should not be assumed by the Sewer Precinct. In South State Street we had to provide for the disposal of the sewage flowing in the old sewer, which we did by pumping. At the southerly end of this work, where we were below the level of the old work, much ground-water was encountered, which added to the expense of relaying this line.

The spring flushing of the entire system was made as usual, but the lateness of the season's work did not permit the fall flushing of the entire system.

BRIDGES.

The bridge at Richardson's Mill, having become unsafe for anything but the lightest traffic, was condemned and a new bridge was constructed which will safely carry any traffic likely to come upon the highway.

The Berlin Construction Company, of Berlin, Conn., were the successful bidders on the superstructure, for the sum of $1,852.00.

Repairs to the Concord masonry consisted of putting a reinforced concrete jacket around the old abutment. Bids were solicited for this work and only one bid was received, which bid was for the sum of $1,200.00.

This bid seemed excessive and your board instructed the city engineer to construct this work with day labor, which was done for the sum of $731.08.

The total cost of replacing this work was as follows:

Paid for masonry,	$731.08
bridge,	926.00
plans,	100.00
street department, railing, etc.,	13.56
mayor, auto hire,	2.00

	$1,806.64

Labor and materials used on Pembroke abutment,	$112.95

	$133.95
Expended as above,	1,806.64
	<hr/>
Total expended,	$1,940.59
Appropriation,	$ 2,000.00
Expended,	1,940.59
	<hr/>
Balance,	$59.41
Plus credits for labor and materials,	133.95
Net balance,	$193.36

The bridges over the Merrimack River and the Contoocook River were examined by Mr. John W. Storrs and your engineer, in pursuance of a vote of your Board, April 8, 1914, and a report made to you under date of June 3, 1914.

On November 9, 1914, it was "Voted that the city engineer, Mr. Storrs and the superintendent of streets be a committee to secure data relative to new bridges (to take place of those not up to standard as recommended by the city engineer's report) giving length of stringers, spans, etc., and estimate of cost."

On November 10, 1914, at a meeting held at the Pembroke Bridge it was "Voted that steps be taken looking to the erection of a new steel bridge and that the city engineer and Storrs & Storrs, get specifications and estimates for the same with planked, wood block paving and concrete roadways."

Under the vote of November 10, plans were made by Storrs & Storrs for a bridge with a concrete slab floor with a coal-tar wearing surface.

These plans were submitted to your Board, adopted, bids secured and the contract awarded to the Berlin Construction Company of Berlin, Conn., for the sum of $23,993.00 and the contract will be signed early in January.

On your vote of November 9, your committee visited the bridges and the report of Mr. John W. Storrs and your engineer, under date of December 14, 1914, was presented to your Board. The superintendent of streets did not join with us in this report.

Under action of your Board following this last report, plans and specifications were prepared for the Federal, Sewall's Falls, Main Street, Penacook and the Borough bridges and bids asked for early in January, 1915.

The floors of the Soucook River bridges, with the exception of the Richardson's Mill bridge, need strengthening to properly carry the allowable loads which may come upon them.

There are a number of smaller bridges in the city which need rebuilding to safely carry the legal loading. In some cases the masonry should be rebuilt.

Plans for a garage and heating plant for the same to be built on the city stable lot were made at the request of your Board.

Plans for an addition to the police station, with three stall garage on the lower floor and a ward room on the second floor were made under the direction of your Board.

Lines and grades were given for macadam roadways on South Street, North State Street, East Penacook Street, Pleasant Street; Washington Square, Merrimack Street and Bye Street, Penacook, and for gravel roads on the Hopkinton and Pittsfield roads.

The monthly measurements for coal-tar concrete walks and roadway repairs were made, statements of the square yards laid, cost and location of same shown and these statements turned over to the parties ordering the work done.

Following is a detailed account of work done in the various sewer precincts.

REPORT OF THE CEMETERY COMMISSIONERS.

To the Board of Aldermen:

By the report of the superintendent the amount placed at our disposal for the year 1914 for the Old North Cemetery was $621.26 and we have expended $618.67, and for Blossom Hill Cemetery we received $6,017.85 and expended $6,763.20 for the detailed account of which we refer you to the report of the City Treasurer. The burials for the year have been in Blossom Hill Cemetery, two hundred and eight (208), and in the Old North Cemetery, fourteen (14). The Chapel has been used nine (9) times.

On October 1st, Edward A. Moulton, who has been superintendent for the past twenty-one years, resigned, and Fred N. Hammond was elected to fill the vacancy and the following resolution was passed by the commissioners:

“Resolved: That this Board, having accepted the resignation of Edward A. Moulton as Superintendent of Cemeteries, after a continuous service of twenty-one years, desires to place upon record our full appreciation of the kindly and efficient manner in which Mr. Moulton has performed the exacting duties of that office. During his administration it has fallen to his sad lot to consign to their last resting place, more than four thousand (4,000) of our citizens, and his dignity and courtesy at all times have been a credit to our city.

“In his management of public funds he has been honest, careful and conservative; and we extend to him at this hour of parting, our best wishes for a long life and continuous prosperity.”

The building of a new fence at the Old North Cemetery is very much needed and a special appropriation for that purpose should be made. The usual appropriation for Blossom Hill Cemetery will probably be all that will be needed.

REPORT OF CITY SOLICITOR.

To the Board of Aldermen:

Definite progress has been made during the past year with the cases in which the City of Concord is interested, especially the tax cases.

The case of Jennie P. Martin v. Concord, with which the board is quite familiar, has been settled.

Woodworth & Co. v. Concord, which is a petition for abatement of taxes, was tried before the tax commission August 13th. The commission has not yet filed its findings of fact. When it does, in all probability, this case will go to the supreme court and there be finally decided. The question is whether the assessors are limited to taxing as stock in trade simply the goods on the shelves or whether the total assets used in carrying on the business may be included.

Roselle M. Day v. Concord is another petition for abatement of taxes, the petitioner contending that the assessors over-valued the Sanborn block at the corner of Main and Capitol streets. This case was tried December 9th before the tax commission which now has it under consideration. At the trial it was intimated by counsel for the petitioner that, so far as the petitioner was concerned, the finding of the tax commission would be accepted as final.

Boston & Maine Railroad v. Concord, is a petition for the abatement of taxes assessed for the year 1913 on goods and materials at the local shops. The case was tried December 18th before the tax commission, and arguments made January 6th. It is likely that this case, which involves a number of thousand dollars each year in taxes for the city, will reach the supreme court some time this spring.

The commission has not yet reported on any of the tax cases.

Finman v. Concord is a case brought to recover the value of the picture booth in the auditorium, which, under the terms of the lease, the city contends passed to it when F. W. Hartford ceased to be the lessee. The case was brought in the superior court for Hillsborough county and will be in order at the present January term.

In Concord v. Frank W. Sanborn the defendant went into bankruptcy and the city's claim for taxes was proved before the referee in bankruptcy, was allowed April 11, and subsequently paid.

For several months of the past year, owing to my incapacity, the affairs of the office were handled by Harry F. Lake, Esq., who attended to routine matters while I was absent. These matters include every kind of legal work for the various heads of departments of the city, such as drafting ordinances, resolutions, contracts, deeds, etc., advice to the tax assessors and the health department and assistance in the prosecution of criminal cases for the police department before the police court.

For granting me a leave of absence during the first half of the year I desire to express my appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

ALEXANDER MURCHIE,

January 19, 1915.

City Solicitor.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON JOHN KIMBALL PLAYGROUND.

To the Board of Aldermen:

The Committee respectfully submits the following report for the year 1914. The appropriation for the year has been spent as the following report shows. The work accomplished on the playgrounds has been of a higher order than before. Mr. Loomis, physical director at Y. M. C. A., was able to give some time during July and August. His work was very acceptable in all respects and much enthusiasm was aroused among the young boys in the neighborhood. The total attendance for the season was 448 boys. Miss Iyla Chamberlain accomplished a great deal with the girls. She was present on 22 days and had an average attendance of 15 in her class. A doll, clothed with garments made by the girls in the sewing class, was presented to the Franklin Orphans' Home. The doll won many compliments for the little seamstresses and was gratefully received by the little girls at the Orphanage. Miss Chamberlain also took the class on a picnic to Bow, and a good time was enjoyed in spite of rather unfavorable weather.

At the Field Day a good time was enjoyed by all and the manner in which the different contests and games were entered into showed a most commendable spirit.

Little by little the playground is coming to present a better appearance, to meet more of the needs of the community and to furnish more varied recreation to the neighborhood. A much needed new shelter is in process of construction. This will satisfy a long-felt want as it will furnish a shelter from the hot sun during the summer months not only to the children but to the mothers and babies. It will also give a proper place for the assembling of classes or club groups and make the duties of a supervisor easier.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON THE ROLLINS PARK PLAYGROUND.

To the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

The Committee respectfully submits the following report for the year 1914.

The $250 appropriated for the current expenses of the playground has been expended after careful consideration. A clay tennis court has been added, the baseball diamond and croquet ground improved.

The instructors for the girls were on the grounds three days a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays through July and August, Miss Myrna Howe through July, Miss Florence Hodgdon from August 1 to August 15 and Miss Myra Crowell from August 15 to the close. The records kept by the instructors show the following attendance during the period the grounds were under supervision on the above days:

Girls,	803
Boys,	311
Mothers,	73
Babies,	45
Fathers,	4
Other guests,	28

Games played include volley ball, tennis, croquet, archery, dodge ball, bean bag, three deep, indoor baseball; and folk dancing has occupied a part of some of the afternoons.

Mr. Loomis, the instructor for the boys, was on the ground Mondays and Wednesdays from July 13 to August 31. On one Saturday afternoon he went with the boys on a hike to Garvin Falls.

In addition to the above, the South End Baseball League under efficient directors and officers played scheduled games nearly every evening during the season and on Saturday afternoons. The total attendance at these games was 10,825.

Through the Mayor and Park Commissioners a flag pole was obtained and the pole erected by volunteer work. Out of the subscription taken the night of the Fourth of July sufficient money was subscribed to purchase a good-sized flag.

The tennis court has been in demand since its completion August 1st. The persons using it are of all ages, the children during the hours assigned them, and the young people and aged spectators during odd hours.

On August 10 eight motor trucks carried 93 children to an auto ride to St. Paul's School and return. Later in the season 50 people in twelve touring cars enjoyed a ride to Boscawen where they visited the Library.

The exhibition of basketry and embroidered doilies on Field Day showed what had been accomplished in the way of work, and the children found it an interesting and enjoyable place.

Four hundred were present on Field Day when the instructors, with many helpers, gave an exhibition of their work with the children.

The success of the playground is in a large measure due to the active work given by Charles A. Clark, former Secretary of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. The coöperation and the volunteer work has been commendable.

INDIVIDUAL ASSISTANCE.

The playground was presented at the beginning of the season with a First Aid to the Injured Cabinet fully equipped.

Six dollars was given which was used for basketry, embroidery work, prizes, etc.

Two bluebird pins were given as prizes for basketry work.

ASSESSORS' REPORT.

To the Taxpayers of the City of Concord:

The board of assessors submit to your consideration the following facts and figures showing the valuation of the city and its school districts and special precincts, with the amount of taxes raised in each and returned to the tax collector for collection.

At the last session of the legislature the poll tax was made a flat rate of $2.00 each. Polls have previously been assessed at $100.00 each, and under the present law, the total valuation of the city has been reduced by the number of polls, or $573,500.00.

The preparation of a separate list of poll taxes has made additional work for this office, and at this time it is uncertain whether the poll taxes are collected better than when delivered with all tax bills. It is the intent of the law that they should be collected immediately upon receipt by the poll tax payer of his bill.

In the petitions for abatement by the Boston & Maine Railroad, Woodworth & Co., and Roselle M. Day, each petition has been heard by the State Tax Commission and further action is pending.

The following extract from the report of the State Tax Commission is submitted, upon the suggestion of same Tax Commission.

REPORT STATE TAX COMMISSION 1914.

INCREASE IN PUBLIC EXPENDITURES.

No power has constituted the members of the tax commission guardians of the public in respect to expenditures for the support of government, and they have no disposition to assume that rôle. Nevertheless, "economy being a most essential virtue in all states," and it being "the duty of legislators and magistrates . . . to countenance and inculcate the principles of . . . economy," all as set forth in the constitution of this state, the commissioners believe themselves to be amply justified in urging, as they have so often urged before, the importance of this subject upon the voters of the state. The public revenue, state and municipal, is the voters' business and they are responsible, directly or indirectly, for every extravagance affecting it from the inception to the termination of the fund.

Every compulsory contribution levied by public authority upon people or property is in the broad sense of the term a tax, nor is it made less obnoxious or burdensome if called a fee or a fine. In the figures that follow therefore, all fees, fines, and other exactions, if any, are included with the taxes upon polls and estates. To illustrate the comparative importance of the two classes, it may be said that the taxes upon polls and estates represent about 95 per cent. and all other income about 5 per cent. of the total revenue of the state, and of the counties, cities, towns, districts, and precincts therein.

Taxes as defined above have increased by leaps and bounds in recent years. In 1903 the sum of all the taxes assessed by and with in the state of New Hampshire was \$5,373,420.22; in 1913 it was \$8,765,039.07, an increase of \$3,391,618.85; or 63 per cent., in ten years. But these figures do not adequately represent the velocity the upward movement has now attained. To show that it is necessary to divide the ten-year period: The levy in 1908 was \$924,388.79, or 17 per cent. greater than in 1903, while that in 1913 was \$2,467,230.06, or 39 per cent. greater than in 1908. By so much did the advance in the last half of said period exceed that in the first half. These figures will be the more alarming if it is remembered that while taxes already sufficiently heavy were advancing 63 per cent., the population of the state increased only about $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., and while the one was advancing 39 per cent., the other increased only about $2\frac{1}{4}$ per cent.

It is instructive to study the subject from another angle. In the ten years from 1904 to 1914, both inclusive, the annual increase in all taxes defined and limited as above was as follows:

1904.....	$34,459.91
1905.....	286,590.14
1906.....	115,468.39
1907.....	411,257.46
1908.....	76,612.89
1909.....	539,995.97
1910.....	787,565.31
1911.....	215,848.50
1912.....	296,216.85
1913.....	627,603.43

The average yearly increase for the whole period was $336,561.85. The upward trend is more plainly shown, however, by dividing, as before, the ten-year period in the middle and considering the halves separately. For the first five years the average annual increase was $184,877.76; for the last five years it was $493,446.01. It is surely pertinent to consider how long the little state of New Hampshire, almost stationary in wealth, can sustain a tax already burdensome and increasing at the rate of practically half a million dollars a year without crippling her industries and impoverishing her people. Plainly it is a condition not calculated to attract capital from without the state or to encourage business within the same.

From the per capita standpoint the situation is not less disturbing. In 1903 there were assessed $12.88 in taxes for each man, woman and child in the state. Five years later there were assessed $14.75 for each individual, and in five years more $20.09. If in 1913 taxes had been equally distributed among all the people it would have meant a burden of $100 for each family of five members. Though in reality there was little such equality in the assessment there was much in the payment. The fact is that those who occupy, use or consume property, no matter who owns it, are those who in the last analysis pay most, if not all, of the taxes thereon. If the wage earner or the man of limited means understood he was in reality paying something like $100 a year in state and municipal and half as much more in federal taxes for the government of himself, his wife and three children his influence and his vote would more frequently make for economy in appropriations and expenditures than heretofore.

No statistics for the year 1914 appear in the above paragraphs for the reason that they are not yet at hand except in part.

SETH N. DOLE,

REPORT OF THE PUBLIC BATH FOR THE SEASON OF 1914.

Hon. C. J. French,
Mayor, City of Concord.

DEAR SIR: The past swimming season at the public bath has been very successful in many ways. The public bath was officially opened on Friday, June 12, and closed Saturday, September 5.

The weather at times this summer was very poor for swimming, frequent rains and cool days tending to mar the proper enjoyment of the aquatic sport.

On Saturday, September 5, the Annual Water Carnival, which marks the end of the season, was held at the public bath and was witnessed by a very large crowd. The merchants of the city donated excellent prizes for the various events and the city gave suitable ribbons for each event.

A pleasing feature this year, from the young women's point of view, was the addition of one more afternoon a week for the use of the young women, making two afternoons a week for their exclusive use.

The following is a weekly record of the attendance, etc.:
